'Middle' Freeway Route Recommended Here

THE FAYETTE COUNTY HIGHWAY COMMITTEE unanimously has recommended that the middle of the three routes sketched above be adopted for the new North-South Freeway which probably will be built through Fayette County within the next three years. The local committee favors the route designated as 'C', which branches off proposed route 'A' east of Bloomingburg, not only because it is more advantageous to Washington C. H. than either the "close-in" or "far-out" routes but because it would disturb fewer Fayette County farms.

A north-south freeway route which would pass approximately four miles north of Washington C. H. has been recommended by the Fayette County Highway Committee—an affiliate of the city's Chamber of Commerce.

The route recommended by the committee is a compromise among three routes suggested by the Ohio Department of Highways' consulting engineers. One of the three would pass near Jeffersonville, nearly nine miles north of the city, and another would swing southward to within a mile of the north city limits.

The Fayette Highway Committee is urging the "middle route" for the following reasons:

• • •

IT WOULD BE within reasonable driving distance of Washington C. H., and yet it would not since it will be a limited access road, choke off the northward expansion of the city;

It would parallel the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad north of the city for several miles, creating excellent factory sites adjacent to both highways and the railroad;

The "middle route" would disturb fewer Fayette County farms and would be a shorter route through the county than other proposed routes;

The route could cross the Dayton-bound Baltimore and Ohio tracks and the DT&I tracks on a single span. Two spans would be needed if the highway follows the suggested "beeline" route near Jeffersonville.

• • •

THE LATTER ROUTE, which the consulting engineers designate as Route "B" between Harrisburg and Route 72 in Clinton County is 35.5 miles long as compared with 39.2 miles for the present CCC Highway.

Route "A", the one nearest Washington C. H., is 38.4 miles long, and the route recommended by the Highway Committee (designated as Route "C") is 37.7 miles long.

The preferred middle route branches off of the "A" route at a point approximately on the West Road, immediately east of Bloomingburg and between the Jones and White Oak roads.

It would cross state Route 38 immediately north of Bloomingburg, Cross State Route 70 about a mile and a half north of Eber and cross U. S. Route 35 approximately at the point where the Bush Road intersects.

Ike Sees No Danger From Russia's Sputnik

Briton Says Comet May Kill Soviet Sputnik

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Soviet earth satellite, Sputnik, may be smashed out of existence tonight by debris from a comet, a leading British astronomer said in London today.

The danger to the earth's first man-made moon lay in the path of the comet Giacobini-Zinner. The earth will cross the path of this comet about 5 p.m. EST.

Debris scattered by the comet on its journey through space could hit the satellite, Prof. A. C. Lovell said.

This debris could deflect the satellite from its course, damage it or wreck it entirely, he added.

Lovell is head of the Jodrell Bank Radio Astronomy Station, the world's most important center of its kind.

In Moscow, the newspaper Pravda said today that the Soviet Union will send larger satellites into outer space with live animals to study the possibilities of interplanetary travel.

• • •

THE PAPER did not indicate when animal - carrying satellites might be launched. Soviet scientists claim to have sent live dogs on rockets to heights of 62 miles without injury.

Elsewhere, there were these developments on Sputnik:

1. In Ottawa, a government spokesman said Tuesday night Canadian scientists had defined the orbit of the satellite, apparently to an accuracy of 50 miles. The spokesman said Canada is believed the first nation outside Russia to develop the information.

2. The Russians reported that the variations in the radio transmissions from the satellite are due to "light-sensitive elements" reacting to changes in temperature or elements encountered in the orbit.

3. Scientists at South Pasadena, Calif., are working at top speed to complete a special camera-telescope capable of tracking the satellite. It should be ready in about nine days.

4. A Soviet scientist, Yury A. Pobedonostsev, said in a Moscow radio broadcast that Russia is working toward creating a manned space station for launching space ships. It is not far off, he said.

Yanks Edge Out Milwaukee, 3-2

YANKEE STADIUM (AP) — In a contest featuring home runs, the New York Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Braves 3-2 here this afternoon, making Thursday's game the tell-tale affair in the 1957 World Series.

The defending champion Yankees, behind 3-2 in Series standings, relied on its heavy bats to stem the Milwaukee tide.

The line score:

Fred Haney's battling Braves were quoted this morning as the 2-1 favorite to win today's game.

The Yankees were handicapped by the absence of Mickey Mantle, who has a torn tendon in his right shoulder. Milwaukee had Red Schoendienst on the sidelines. He has a pulled groin muscle.

The Braves, leading three games to two, were more than eager to wrap it up today because of the uncertain physical condition of Warren Spahn, their ace pitcher. Spahn, considered a certainty to pitch the seventh game, if it were needed, has a slight case of grippe.

The Yankees also had a pitcher hors de combat in Johnny Kucks. The young right-hander spent Tuesday in a hospital, wrestling with a case of the flu—not the Asian kind—and he is not expected to see action.

The Yankees' other invalid, Bill Skowron, felt a little better Tuesday night although his sacroiliac muscle is still very painful. He said he could pinchhit but could not play in the field.

We Could Have Beaten Reds to Punch, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower assured the nation today he sees not one iota of reason for concern over national security as a result of Russia's launching of an earth satellite.

Eisenhower also said, in a formal news conference statement, the United States could have beaten Russia to the punch and put up a satellite before now by merging the satellite and missile programs.

But he said this would have been "to the detriment of scientific goals and military progress."

Eisenhower announced that the United States plans to launch test satellites in December. And he said the first fully instrumented U. S. satellite will be launched next March.

All that Eisenhower said added up to the idea that in the fields of satellites and missiles the United States is going ahead just as it has planned all along, with no special speedup now in the light of the Russian satellite achievement.

• • •

EISENHOWER congratulated Soviet scientists for putting their Sputnik into outer space, but expressed uncertainty as to the value of the achievement.

Just before Eisenhower's news conference, government officials had reported the Soviet moonlet was still circling the earth on its original orbit and apparently at about its original speed and altitude.

Some foreign observers had reported the satellite apparently dropping toward the denser lower atmosphere where its life would be short.

But Dr. John P. Hagen, director of Operation Vanguard, the U.S. satellite project, said:

"Our observations do not lead us to believe the U.S.S.R. satellite is falling into the lower atmosphere."

That bore out earlier information from the Naval Research Laboratory.

A laboratory spokesman said radio signals from Sputnik were received strong and clear when it passed over Washington at 6:55 this morning. He added there now seems to be more of a steady signal instead of the original "beep, beep, beep."

The spokesman said calculations made about 9 a.m. indicate Sputnik is still taking 96.1 minutes to circle the earth, almost exactly the schedule it has followed from the start.

Missile Control Parley Sought

U. S. West Powers To Eye Russian Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sought quick consultation with Britain, France and Canada today on a new proposal to Russia for exploring international control of space missiles.

The Western powers had proposed such a study at the London disarmament conference in August, but only as part of a package under consideration at that time. Russia rejected the proposal.

Secretary of State Dulles abandoned the American stand-pat decision on this issue after a talk Tuesday night with President Eisenhower and disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen. He evidently wants to get the United States into a more favorable political and propaganda position before the world.

At the same time Dulles stuck determinedly to the line that this country will not negotiate and make agreements with Russia on issues which involve the interests of other nations.

A State Department announcement conditioned the policy change on agreement by Britain, France and Canada, which together with the United States and Russia have made up the United Nations subcommittee on disarmament.

Russian Rocket Gains Top U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Spectacular Russian achievements in outer space have left the United States with only one first to win in the field—perfection of the 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile.

If Russian claims are to be believed, there is strong doubt whether even that race is still open for the winning.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev announced more than a month ago a Russian test of an ICBM. Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov said in Belgrade Tuesday Russian forces have been equipped with first-class arms including "jet and rocket techniques in the framework of which are also intercontinental ballistic missiles."

Neither claimed that Russia actually has ICBMs ready for use, as American spokesmen have carefully noted, but Khrushchev came up with a boast Tuesday that his Russians have it all over the United States in the long-range missile field.

• • •

THE TALKATIVE Communist boss said at an embassy party in Moscow that manned warplanes are no match for Russian intercontinental ballistic missiles. He went further to state that "the age of bombers is over. You might as well put bombers and fighters in the museum."

The Kremlin chief was backed up in part by the United States Navy when it made public for the first time Tuesday the hitherto secret knowledge that the Soviets already have 1,500-mile ballistic weapons placed so as to threaten all major American and Allied based in Western Europe.

The Navy revelation of the Russian missile achievement, following up Russia's launching of a satellite now orbiting the earth, may spur a long-delayed Pentagon decision over which of two candidates for an American intermediate ballistic will be chosen for development.

There is little likelihood that the furor caused by the Soviet achievements will hasten by many hours the perfection of a 5,000-mile American ballistic missile.

As of now, the only American intercontinental ballistic weapon ready for testing has flown little more than 5,000 feet, not 5,000 miles.

Acid Poison Death of U. S. Red Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—Authorities are investigating the death by acid poisoning of Boris Richard Daniman, 54, once called the top young Communist International representative in the Western Hemisphere.

Daniman died Saturday in Montefiore Hospital in the Bronx. State police, listing the death as accidental, said he apparently had drunk acid from a cider jug while at his summer place at Lake Oscawana near Peekskill.

But Dr. Edward Santora, assistant Bronx County medical examiner, said Tuesday: "I do not list the death as accidental. A large amount of acid had to be swallowed to do the damage it did.

"I feel anybody who gets a mouthful of muriatic acid is not going to swallow it unless he is intent on suicide," Dr. Santora continued. He made an autopsy of the body Sunday.

Daniman, Ukranian-born, was also known as Max Young and was facing deportation.

Daniman's wife, Mary Gold Daniman, said her husband had been worried about being deported. The immigration service said technical difficulties had held up the proceedings.

Pathetically Ill Little Boy Finds Friends by Thousands

LAKEVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Up until Tuesday, little Francis X., pathetically ill with muscular dystrophy, had never had a visitor at the Lakeville State Sanatorium.

His mother is dead and his father is in prison for killing her.

The youngster, also known as Little Boy Blue, thought nobody wanted him.

Facing a lonely birthday, he told Dr. Kurt Jellinek last week he didn't want much, maybe four or five cars.

The story of the lonely youngster got out and it touched the heart of the nation.

On his ninth birthday Tuesday he learned how many friends he really has.

Comedian Jerry Lewis dedicated a million-dollar, closed-circuit television show exclusively to the ailing youngster.

More than 150,000 cards and letters were mailed to him—and they were still coming today.

An estimated $10,000 was mailed to him.

Offers of help jammed the hospital switchboard.

Toys, candy, games, radios, television sets and other gifts were delivered to the hospital by the truckload.

Although he doesn't have much strength, Francis managed to blow out the candles on his birthday cake and to open a few of the hundreds of presents he received.

The youngster, whose name was withheld by the hospital, shared his birthday and the presents with an estimated 75 other hospitalized children.

The money he received will be placed in a trust fund for him.

Commented Dr. Jellinek: "This has done wonders for the boy. A week ago he wouldn't respond and now he has a will to live."

British Effort To Mystify Radio Audience Big Success

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. set out to mystify its radio audience Tuesday night with a murder play called "Death of a Leading Lady" and succeeded beyond its fondest dreams. The play, which was recorded, came out backwards.

The program began three minutes late and listeners were thoroughly mystified to hear it start with the play's detective summing up his conclusions.

This went on for eight minutes before an announcer interrupted:

"We seem to be having a little trouble with the 'Death of a Leading Lady.' She seems very dead at the moment."

He turned the tape player off then restarted it. This time the listeners heard suspects in the murder case being grilled, although as far as the air waves were concerned there hadn't yet been a murder. The second tape ran on for 18 minutes and then the announcer interrupted again:

"Not much point to allowing this program to go on. I'll play some music until 10 p.m."

He played a couple of bars and announced:

"That was 'It Might as Well be Spring.' It might as well be spring. It might as well be autumn or next Thursday fortnight. We will now hear the 10 p.m. time signal."

Some time passed, but the signal failed to sound.

The disgusted announcer apologized and expressed hope that the next program would go on roughly as advertised. It did.

A BBC spokesman said "Death of a Leading Lady" was recorded on three tapes and they were played in the wrong order.

What happened to the time signal? That's still a mystery.

On Little Rock School Fuss, Ike Hopeful, but Not Faubus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower said today he is very hopeful that the time may be drawing near when federal troops enforcing school integration in Little Rock, Ark., can be withdrawn. But he offered no specific information or elaboration regarding his hope.

But there was no hope expressed by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus today. He said he sees no solution to the dispute except the complete withdrawal of the nine Negro students now attending Central High School in Little Rock.

Both dignitaries expressed their views at separate news conferences.

Eisenhower was asked whether in his opinion Central High School could have been integrated peacefully if Gov. Orval Faubus had not stationed the Arkansas National Guard at the school. The Guard was used to prevent Negroes from attending classes.

Eisenhower replied that an answer would call for speculation on his part. But he went on to say he did know that integration had been achieved peacefully in other parts of Arkansas, and said he saw no reason why it could not have been achieved in the same way in Little Rock.

• • •

AT HIS NEWS conference, Faubus said:

"We need a chance for tenseness to be allayed, time for litigation and time for the people to accept peacefully what is being crammed down their throats at bayonet point."

Pressed as to whether any solution could be reached while the Negroes are in Central High, Faubus said:

"I don't think it is possible at this time with the Negroes in the school."

Faubus said it is within the power of a number of people including the courts and the Little Rock School Board to initiate some break in the deadlock but that he has no suggestions currently under consideration.

At the school, the scene remained quiet. Half a dozen soldiers escorted the Negroes into the building without incident.

NEW YORK (AP) — The finance minister of Ghana, who had Vice President Richard M. Nixon in for lunch at his home in Africa last March, says he was not allowed to eat in a restaurant in Dover, Del., because of his color.

K. A. Gbedemah, a highly educated man who speaks flawless English, reported the incident Tuesday on his return to New York. It was confirmed in Dover by Howard Cook, who operates the restaurant.

MASSILLON (AP)—Fire early today caused heavy damage to a three-story brick building in downtown Massillon which housed radio station WTIG.

Missile Control Parley Sought

U. S. West Powers To Eye Russian Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sought quick consultation with Britain, France and Canada today on a new proposal to Russia for exploring international control of space missiles.

The Western powers had proposed such a study at the London disarmament conference in August, but only as part of a package under consideration at that time. Russia rejected the proposal.

Secretary of State Dulles abandoned the American stand-pat decision on this issue after a talk Tuesday night with President Eisenhower and disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen. He evidently wants to get the United States into a more favorable political and propaganda position before the world.

At the same time Dulles stuck determinedly to the line that this country will not negotiate and make agreements with Russia on issues which involve the interests of other nations.

A State Department announcement conditioned the policy change on agreement by Britain, France and Canada, which together with the United States and Russia have made up the United Nations subcommittee on disarmament.

Russian Rocket Gains Top U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Spectacular Russian achievements in outer space have left the United States with only one first to win in the field—perfection of the 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile.

If Russian claims are to be believed, there is strong doubt whether even that race is still open for the winning.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev announced more than a month ago a Russian test of an ICBM. Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov said in Belgrade Tuesday Russian forces have been equipped with first-class arms including "jet and rocket techniques in the framework of which are also intercontinental ballistic missiles."

Neither claimed that Russia actually has ICBMs ready for use, as American spokesmen have carefully noted, but Khrushchev came up with a boast Tuesday that his Russians have it all over the United States in the long-range missile field.

* * *

THE TALKATIVE Communist boss said at an embassy party in Moscow that manned warplanes are no match for Russian intercontinental ballistic missiles. He went further to state that "the age of bombers is over. You might as well put bombers and fighters in the museum."

The Kremlin chief was backed up in part by the United States Navy when it made public for the first time Tuesday the hitherto secret knowledge that the Soviets already have 1,500-mile ballistic weapons placed so as to threaten all major American and Allied based in Western Europe.

The Navy revelation of the Russian missile achievement, following up Russia's launching of a satellite now orbiting the earth, may spur a long-delayed Pentagon decision over which of two candidates for an American intermediate ballistic will be chosen for development.

There is little likelihood that the furor caused by the Soviet achievements will hasten by many hours the perfection of a 5,000-mile American ballistic missile.

As of now, the only American intercontinental ballistic weapon ready for testing has flown little more than 5,000 feet, not 5,000 miles.

Acid Poison Death of U. S. Red Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—Authorities are investigating the death by acid poisoning of Boris Richard Daniman, 54, once called the top young Communist International representative in the Western Hemisphere.

Daniman died Saturday in Montefiore Hospital in the Bronx. State police, listing the death as accidental, said he apparently had drunk acid from a cider jug while at his summer place at Lake Oscawana near Peekskill.

But Dr. Edward Santora, assistant Bronx County medical examiner, said Tuesday: "I do not list the death as accidental. A large amount of acid had to be swallowed to do the damage it did.

"I feel anybody who gets a mouthful of muriatic acid is not going to swallow it unless he is intent on suicide," Dr. Santora continued. He made an autopsy of the body Sunday.

Daniman, Ukranian-born, was also known as Max Young and was facing deportation.

Daniman's wife, Mary Gold Daniman, said her husband had been worried about being deported. The immigration service said technical difficulties had held up the proceedings.

Satellite Cocktail Sends You Beeping

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—A tavern owner here has concocted a satellite cocktail, contending that after one drink you'll take a flying leap at the moon.

"The base is vodka, of course," whispers Donn Willson, th originator, "but the rest of the contents are secret, comrade."

He claimed one patron had two and took off, beeping.

Pathetically Ill Little Boy Finds Friends by Thousands

LAKEVILLE, Mass. (AP)—Up until Tuesday, little Francis X., pathetically ill with muscular dystrophy, had never had a visitor at the Lakeville State Sanatorium.

His mother is dead and his father is in prison for killing her.

The youngster, also known as Little Boy Blue, thought nobody wanted him.

Facing a lonely birthday, he told Dr. Kurt Jellinek last week he didn't want much, maybe four or five cars.

The story of the lonely youngster got out and it touched the heart of the nation.

On his ninth birthday Tuesday he learned how many friends he really has.

Comedian Jerry Lewis dedicated a million-dollar, closed-circuit television show exclusively to the ailing youngster.

More than 150,000 cards and letters were mailed to him—and they were still coming today.

An estimated $10,000 was mailed to him.

Offers of help jammed the hospital switchboard.

Toys, candy, games, radios, television sets and other gifts were delivered to the hospital by the truckload.

Although he doesn't have much strength, Francis managed to blow out the candles on his birthday cake and to open a few of the hundreds of presents he received.

The youngster, whose name was withheld by the hospital, shared his birthday and the presents with an estimated 75 other hospitalized children.

The money he received will be placed in a trust fund for him.

Commented Dr. Jellinek: "This has done wonders for the boy. A week ago he wouldn't respond and now he has a will to live."

British Effort To Mystify Radio Audience Big Success

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. set out to mystify its radio audience Tuesday night with a murder play called "Death of a Leading Lady" and succeeded beyond its fondest dreams. The play, which was recorded, came out backwards.

The program began three minutes late and listeners were thoroughly mystified to hear it start with the play's detective summing up his conclusions.

This went on for eight minutes before an announcer interrupted:

"We seem to be having a little trouble with the 'Death of a Leading Lady.' She seems very dead at the moment."

He turned the tape player off then restarted it. This time the listeners heard suspects in the murder case being grilled, although as far as the air waves were concerned there hadn't yet been a murder. The second tape ran on for 18 minutes and then the announcer interrupted again:

"Not much point to allowing this program to go on. I'll play some music until 10 p.m."

He played a couple of bars and announced:

"That was 'It Might as Well be Spring.' It might as well be spring. It might as well be autumn or next Thursday fortnight. We will now hear the 10 p.m. time signal."

Some time passed, but the signal failed to sound.

The disgusted announcer apologized and expressed hope that the next program would go on roughly as advertised. It did.

A BBC spokesman said "Death of a Leading Lady" was recorded on three tapes and they were played in the wrong order.

What happened to the time signal? That's still a mystery.

On Little Rock School Fuss, Ike Hopeful, but Not Faubus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower said today he is very hopeful that the time may be drawing near when federal troops enforcing school integration in Little Rock, Ark., can be withdrawn. But he offered no specific information or elaboration regarding his hope.

But there was no hope expressed by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus today. He said he sees no solution to the dispute except the complete withdrawal of the nine Negro students now attending Central High School in Little Rock.

Both dignitaries expressed their views at separate news conferences.

Eisenhower was asked whether in his opinion Central High School could have been integrated peacefully if Gov. Orval Faubus had not stationed the Arkansas National Guard at the school. The Guard was used to prevent Negroes from attending classes.

Eisenhower replied that an answer would call for speculation on his part. But he went on to say he did know that integration had been achieved peacefully in other parts of Arkansas, and said he saw no reason why it could not have been achieved in the same way in Little Rock.

* * *

AT HIS NEWS conference, Faubus said:

"We need a chance for tenseness to be allayed, time for litigation and time for the people to accept peacefully what is being crammed down their throats at bayonet point."

Pressed as to whether any solution could be reached while the Negroes are in Central High, Faubus said:

"I don't think it is possible at this time with the Negroes in the school."

Faubus said it is within the power of a number of people including the courts and the Little Rock School Board to initiate some break in the deadlock but that he has no suggestions currently under consideration.

At the school, the scene remained quiet. Half a dozen soldiers escorted the Negroes into the building without incident.

'55 Ohio Ballot Wording Eyed

State Building Setup May End in 'Chaos'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some wording on a 1955 ballot — that didn't quite tell the full story—could throw Ohio's multi-million dollar program for new state hospitals and prisons into "chaos."

That is, if the wording causes the Ohio Supreme Court to throw out the ballot.

Voters in 1955 passed a constitutional amendment authorizing a 150 million dollar bond issue for the program. Because of space limitations, only a summary of the amendment appeared on the ballot, rather than the full text of the amendment.

The amendment itself stated properly that funds from a cigaret tax would be used to help retire the bonds, but it added that if the cigaret tax did not bring in enough money, the state would make up the difference.

There was nothing in the summary stating that Ohio would make good if the cigaret tax was insufficient.

As a result, attorneys for the state sinking fund decided Tuesday that a Supreme Court test should be made of the ballot's validity before the state issues any of the bonds. Some money has been spent on the building program, but it came from the sale of 25 million dollars worth of notes issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds. About 5½ of the 25 million has been spent.

If the Supreme Court rules that the ballots were not valid, "choas" would result, says the state finance director, John Skipton.

The recommendation to make a court test of the issue came from the law firm of Bricker, Marburger, Evatt and Barton.

Attorneys said the suit could be started by having the commission secretary refuse to approve the advertising necessary for the bond issue. The Supreme Court could then be asked in a friendly suit to order the advertising if the judges decide the ballots are in order.

Bell Telephone Negotiations Due To Resume Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and union negotiators resume negotiations today after an hour-long session Tuesday failed to dissolve the sole block to agreement on a new contract.

Ohio Bell and the Communications Workers of America are to meet at 2 p.m. under the guidance of federal conciliator Thomas W. Robertson.

The CWA refused to sign a proposed strike termination agreement drawn up by the company last week. However, the CWA ordered its 18,500 members in Ohio to return to work while negotiations with Ohio Bell continue.

Under the strike - termination proposal, employes who struck would not be able to credit strike time to their term of employment or seniority.

Both sides said they reached substantial agreement on a new 15-month contract providing wage increases ranging from $2.50 to $5 a week.

Driver Charged After Collision

A Waynesville driver was charged with running a red light after an accident at Columbus Ave. and Delaware St. about 12:20 p. m. Tuesday.

Police said John William Gough, 26, was headed west on Columbus Ave. when his car collided with an auto driven by Elmer T. Hutchinson, 64, of Cisco Rd. Gough will appear in court later this week.

Hutchinson was headed south on Delaware St. Damage was moderate.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster are the group's advisors.

Knowland's Ohio Appearance Due To Be Watched Closely

COLUMBUS (AP) — Politicians throughout the nation watched U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland's Ohio visit today in the hope of learning whether the Senate Republican leader plans to seek the presidency in 1960.

Knowland makes his first major speech at a $50-a-plate dinner here tonight since announcing he would attempt to unseat California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in next year's election.

The 49-year-old senator so far has refused to close the door against a presidential race. Friends have urged him to enter mid-way in his gubernatorial term, should he win election.

Accompanying Knowland to Columbus for his address in the new Youth Center at the Ohio State Fairgrounds is Charles Thomas, chairman of the National Republican Finance Committee.

More than 1,500 party leaders from 30 central and southern Ohio counties are expected for the fund-raising affair at which U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker of Columbus will preside as toastmaster.

As the man designated by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft as his successor when Taft became ill, Knowland is familiar to Ohioans. He addressed the 1954 Republican state convention here.

Gov. and Mrs. C. William O'Neill, GOP state officials and district congressmen feature the guest list for a dinner of roast prime ribs that normally costs $5 a plate.

Proceeds will go to national, state and local party organizations for the announced purpose of relieving office holders from pressure often applied by campaign fund contributors.

Advance notices listed 33 counties. They are: Athens, Belmont, Clark, Champaign, Crawford, Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Greene, Hardin, Holmes, Knox, Licking, Madison, Miami, Morgan, Muskingum, Perry, Shelby, Washington, Fayette, Gallia, Guernsey, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Logan, Monroe, Morrow, Noble, Pickaway, Union and Wyandot.

Drunk Driver Fined, Jailed

Other Traffic Offenders Heard

One man was convicted of drunk en driving, and three others pleaded guilty to other traffic offenses in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Fined $200 and costs on the DWI count was William R. Unger, 37, of Hillsboro, arrested on Morris Rd. in Green Township about 1 a. m. by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Mickle. Unger pleaded innocent, but he was found guilty by Judge Max G. Dice.

Unger's driving rights were suspended for a year, and he was sentenced to three days in jail.

* * *

FINED $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way was Betty Jane Bowles, 33, of 831 Sycamore St. Charles V. Fleming, 75, of Greenfield, paid $10 and costs for failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

Fined $5 and costs for speeding was Emma P. Connor, 38, of Wilmington.

Forfeiting bond for non-appearance on speeding charges were Thomas E. Brown, 35, of Rootstown. Richard G. Watts, 38, of Columbus, and Richard L. Powell, 26, of Sabina, $20 each, and Ruth B. Creech, 34, of Cincinnati, $15.

Store Modernization Clinic To Be Held for Merchants Here

Plans for a Store Modernization Clinic here Nov. 7 were given final approval by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Wednesday morning.

The clinic, which will be for merchants and their wives, or husbands, will be held following a dinner at the Country Club. There will be no charge.

The purpose of the clinic, it was explained at the meeting Wednesday, is to give the merchants some new ideas on lighting and displays for their stores.

Although it is sponsored by the Dayton Power & Light Co., it was explained that there will be specialists there to discuss such problems as showcase design, financing, store fronts, window displays and signs as well as effective lighting.

* * *

JACK DAVES, president of the Retail Merchants Committee, suggested that merchants bring pencil and paper to the clinic for taking down notes. He commented: "They should get some very good ideas for store modernization they won't want to forget."

Daves said reservations for the dinner and clinic should be made with the Chamber of Commerce not later than Nov. 1.

The committee started looking ahead to the Christmas shopping season at this meeting, too. Holiday decorations for the business district and store hours were discussed in considerable detail. Announcements of the conclusions will be made later, it was decided.

The parade that will open the house - to - house Community Chest campaign next Monday also was discussed.

It was announced that the placards warning against shoplifting had been distributed among the stores here.

Refugee-Spy Gets 7-Year Prison Term

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Soble, a Lithuanian refugee who took shelter in America in World War II and then headed a Soviet spy ring here for a decade, today faced seven years imprisonment for his crime

Soble, 54, was sentenced Tuesday by Federal Judge Richard H. Levet. His wife Myra, 53, and 64-year-old Jacob Albam, co-conspirators who had also pleaded guilty to spy conspiracy charges, were resentenced Tuesday. Mrs. Soble was given four years and Albam five; they had been sentenced previously to 5½ each.

Each of the three could have been sentenced to 10 years. But Judge Levet said: "There is, I believe, strong indication of remorse on the part of the defendants."

After his arrest last Jan. 26, Soble underwent an apparently complete change of heart. Saying he deeply regretted betraying his adopted country, he helped federal authorities unravel the thread of his network of espionage.

The government said Soble's cooperation helped obtain spying indictments against several others, including Alfred K. Stern and Martha Dodd Stern, daughter of a former American ambassador to Germany. The Sterns are now believed behind the Iron Curtain.

'Traveler' Faces Sentence Oct. 20

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Speedie, 51, nicknamed "The Traveler" by police and described by them as the onetime No. 1 bad check passer in the nation, pleaded guilty Tuesday to five counts of forgery.

Sentencing is set for Oct. 30.

Speedie was arrested last month near Cleveland. Detectives traced him through 44 states, said he left a 14-year trail of bad checks costing victims an estimated $500,000.

'Employ the Handicapped' Is Slogan for Week Here

"Hire the handicapped— it's good business," is the slogan of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 6 through 12, Ward C. Miller, head of the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, points out.

"Handicapped people, properly placed, can do as good a job as non-handicapped people," Miller noted, observing that the local office is making a special effort this week to get proper placements for the handicapped.

Miller noted, however, that the local office works on the project all year, and that observance of the "week" is only one of several activities sponsored to remind the public of the handicapped person's values as an employee.

Records of both industry and government show that a handicapped person in the right job is just as efficient and just as productive as a non-handicapped person would be, Miller noted.

The "week" was originally established by the 79th U. S. Congress. City Manager James F. Parkinson had proclaimed it here this year.

Eastside PTA Meets, Hears New Principal

James Stroud, new principal of Eastside School, was the guest speaker at the school PTA meeting held Tuesday evening.

Otis Core introduced Stroud who used as his topic "Fundamentals in Elementary Education."

Stroud worked for the government in the field of education in Japan.

He is interested in Scouting and hopes to organize a troop at Eastside soon.

Roger Hoffman, president, introduced Robert Terhune, member of the Board of Education, who spoke on the need for renewal of the school operating levy.

A reception in honor of Stroud, followed the meeting, with the officers in charge. They are, president, Roger Hoffman; vice president, Mrs. Walter Haines; secretary, Mrs. Richard Wood; and treasurer, John Bailey.

Policemen Admit Striking Suspects

RAVENNA (AP)—Prosecutor Robert E. Cook says two police officers admit striking two young men they questioned about the slaying of a Kent bookstore owner.

One of the young men, 21-year-old Roland S. Metcalf, confessed to the murder of John H. DuBois. But because of the alleged police brutality, his attorney Tuesday asked for a new arraignment, and permission to change Metcalf's plea to innocent.

The other young man, 21-year-old Clyde Williamson of Kent, was cleared of suspicion.

Cook said Akron detective Grover Goodwell admitted he struck Metcalf several times, and Kent patrolmen Paul Petrella admitted he struck Williamson several times.

Fish, Game Assn. Plans Full Docket

A full agenda awaits members of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. when they gather at the lodge near Buena Vista at 8 p. m. Thursday for their monthly meeting.

Among the subjects expected to be brought up for discussion are the hunting safety program sponsored by the association; the nesting boxes for wood ducks the club is putting up on stakes in streams all over the county; the pheasant feeding program and a trap shoot.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the business meeting and the evening will be closed with the showing of wildlife movies.

launched. That means it is not quite a perfect circle and the satellite's orbit may periodically draw it closer to earth. The spokesman said the laboratory estimates it has an average height of about 400 miles.

Because scientific data on the satellite's path still is somewhat incomplete, he said, it may be that the points where Sputnik normally drops closer to the earth may vary slightly with each orbit. That, he explained, would account for some of the reports that the satellite is dropping down from its original orbit.

This morning's flights over the United States were all on a northwest to southeast bearing. When Sputnik makes its next pass sometime tonight it will be traveling in southwest to northeast.

There was six-hour period during which the laboratory heard nothing from the sphere, but early today it again began picking up the "beep, beep" of its radio transmissions.

Pressure for government action is mounting. Sen. Symington (D-Mo), said he had sent Eisenhower a telegram urging him to call a special session of Congress.

Several members of Congress have called for an investigation to determine why the United States apparently is lagging behind Russia in the field of satellites and some other technical areas. A Senate subcommittee staff already has started an inquiry.

Selden Grange Has Open House

Objectives Outlined By R. Bruce Tom

Selden Grange observed "Operation Forward" with an open house meeting Wednesday night in the Staunton School.

The stage was set for the meeting by a supper. On the dining room committee were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Wycoff, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Carwile, Mrs. Dora Mark, Mrs. Clara Schwart, Homer Stewart, Ray Baughn and Marion Baughn.

The meeting proper opened with group singing led by Mrs. Doris Wipert. Then the retiring Master Barton Montgomery, master of ceremonies for the occasion, presented the new master, Ralph Nisley, and asked him to give the assembly a little Grange history and explain its goals and objectives.

Nisley introduced the speaker of the evening, R. Bruce Tom, lecturer of the Ohio State Grange. Tom was on the faculty of Ohio State University as rural extension sociologist for many years.

He said that in Granges and many similar organizations, there were talents that were not being utilized. "Nearly every Grange", he said. "has members who are qualified to enter into discussions and put on programs. The best programs are those in which the members participate. . .use your resources."

* * *

FOLLOWING the address, the master introduced Mrs. Tom; Mrs. Madge Winter, Pomona lecturer; Mrs. Martha Pfeifer, from Fayette Grange, and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Whiteside, deputies for Fayette County.

Whiteside announced the Fayette County Grange officers' installation will be held at Marshall Grange Hall in Jeffersonville next Monday evening by the David Dowler installation team from Pickaway County.

Other meetings announced by Master Montgomery were: Pomona Grange on Thursday night, at the Farm Bureau auditorium; the State Grange sessions at Columbus, Oct. conference at Clarksburg School in Ross County on Dec. 7.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction.

County Offices To Close Saturday

All county offices and banks here will be closed Saturday in observance of Columbus Day.

The post office announces that it will not observe the holiday, but will offer regular Saturday service.

Retail stores will remain "open for business as usual," Jack Daves, president of the Retail Merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce said.

'55 Ohio Ballot Wording Eyed

State Building Setup May End in 'Chaos'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some wording on a 1955 ballot — that didn't quite tell the full story—could throw Ohio's multi-million dollar program for new state hospitals and prisons into "chaos."

That is, if the wording causes the Ohio Supreme Court to throw out the ballot.

Voters in 1955 passed a constitutional amendment authorizing a 150 million dollar bond issue for the program. Because of space limitations, only a summary of the amendment appeared on the ballot, rather than the full text of the amendment.

The amendment itself stated properly that funds from a cigaret tax would be used to help retire the bonds, but it added that if the cigaret tax did not bring in enough money, the state would make up the difference.

There was nothing in the summary stating that Ohio would make good if the cigaret tax was insufficient.

As a result, attorneys for the state sinking fund decided Tuesday that a Supreme Court test should be made of the ballot's validity before the state issues any of the bonds. Some money has been spent on the building program, but it came from the sale of 25 million dollars worth of notes issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds. About 5½ of the 25 million has been spent.

If the Supreme Court rules that the ballots were not valid, "chaos" would result, says the state finance director, John Skipton.

The recommendation to make a court test of the issue came from the law firm of Bricker, Marburger, Evatt and Barton.

Attorneys said the suit could be started by having the commission secretary refuse to approve the advertising necessary for the bond issue. The Supreme Court could then be asked in a friendly suit to order the advertising if the judges decide the ballots are in order.

Bell Telephone Negotiations Due To Resume Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and union negotiators resume negotiations today after an hour-long session Tuesday failed to dissolve the sole block to agreement on a new contract.

Ohio Bell and the Communications Workers of America are to meet at 2 p.m. under the guidance of federal conciliator Thomas W. Robertson.

The CWA refused to sign a proposed strike termination agreement drawn up by the company last week. However, the CWA ordered its 18,500 members in Ohio to return to work while negotiations with Ohio Bell continue.

Under the strike - termination proposal, employes who struck would not be able to credit strike time to their term of employment or seniority.

Both sides said they reached substantial agreement on a new 15-month contract providing wage increases ranging from $2.50 to $5 a week.

Driver Charged After Collision

A Waynesville driver was charged with running a red light after an accident at Columbus Ave. and Delaware St. about 12:20 p. m. Tuesday.

Police said John William Gough, 26, was headed west on Columbus Ave. when his car collided with an auto driven by Elmer T. Hutchinson, 64, of Cisco Rd. Gough will appear in court later this week.

Hutchinson was headed south on Delaware St. Damage was moderate.

New Officers Elected By Intermediate MYF

The Intermediate Methodist Youth Fellowship (MYF) of Grace Church is now ready to start another year under the leadership of new officers: Buddy Naylor, president; Gilbert Crouse, vice president; Caroline Dill, secretary, and Butch Reiber, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster are the group's advisors.

Knowland's Ohio Appearance Due To Be Watched Closely

COLUMBUS (AP) — Politicians throughout the nation watched U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland's Ohio visit today in the hope of learning whether the Senate Republican leader plans to seek the presidency in 1960.

Knowland makes his first major speech at a $50-a-plate dinner here tonight since announcing he would attempt to unseat California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight in next year's election.

The 49-year-old senator so far has refused to close the door against a presidential race. Friends have urged him to enter mid-way in his gubernatorial term, should he win election.

Accompanying Knowland to Columbus for his address in the new Youth Center at the Ohio State Fairgrounds is Charles Thomas, chairman of the National Republican Finance Committee.

More than 1,500 party leaders from 30 central and southern Ohio counties are expected for the fund-raising affair at which U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker of Columbus will preside as toastmaster.

As the man designated by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft as his successor when Taft became ill, Knowland is familiar to Ohioans. He addressed the 1954 Republican state convention here.

Gov. and Mrs. C. William O'Neill, GOP state officials and district congressmen feature the guest list for a dinner of roast prime ribs that normally costs $5 a plate.

Proceeds will go to national, state and local party organizations for the announced purpose of relieving office holders from pressure often applied by campaign fund contributors.

Advance notices listed 33 counties. They are: Athens, Belmont, Clark, Champaign, Crawford, Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Greene, Hardin, Holmes, Knox, Licking, Madison, Miami, Morgan, Muskingum, Perry, Shelby, Washington, Fayette, Gallia, Guernsey, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Logan, Monroe, Morrow, Noble, Pickaway, Union and Wyandot.

Drunk Driver Fined, Jailed

Other Traffic Offenders Heard

One man was convicted of drunk en driving, and three others pleaded guilty to other traffic offenses in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Fined $200 and costs on the DWI count was William R. Unger, 37, of Hillsboro, arrested on Morris Rd. in Green Township about 1 a. m. by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Mickle. Unger pleaded innocent, but he was found guilty by Judge Max G. Dice.

Unger's driving rights were suspended for a year, and he was sentenced to three days in jail.

* * *

FINED $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way was Betty Jane Bowles, 33, of 831 Sycamore St. Charles V. Fleming, 75, of Greenfield, paid $10 and costs for failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

Fined $5 and costs for speeding was Emma P. Connor, 38, of Wilmington.

Forfeiting bond for non-appearance on speeding charges were Thomas E. Brown, 35, of Rootstown. Richard G. Watts, 38, of Columbus, and Richard L. Powell, 26, of Sabina, $20 each, and Ruth B. Creech, 34, of Cincinnati, $15.

Store Modernization Clinic To Be Held for Merchants Here

Plans for a Store Modernization Clinic here Nov. 7 were given final approval by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Wednesday morning.

The clinic, which will be for merchants and their wives, or husbands, will be held following a dinner at the Country Club. There will be no charge.

The purpose of the clinic, it was explained at the meeting Wednesday, is to give the merchants some new ideas on lighting and displays for their stores.

Although it is sponsored by the Dayton Power & Light Co., it was explained that there will be specialists there to discuss such problems as showcase design, financing, store fronts, window displays and signs as well as effective lighting.

* * *

JACK DAVES, president of the Retail Merchants Committee, suggested that merchants bring pencil and paper to the clinic for taking down notes. He commented: "They should get some very good ideas for store modernization they won't want to forget."

Daves said reservations for the dinner and clinic should be made with the Chamber of Commerce not later than Nov. 1.

The committee started looking ahead to the Christmas shopping season at this meeting, too. Holiday decorations for the business district and store hours were discussed in considerable detail. Announcements of the conclusions will be made later, it was decided.

The parade that will open the house - to - house Community Chest campaign next Monday also was discussed.

It was announced that the placards warning against shoplifting had been distributed among the stores here.

'Employ the Handicapped' Is Slogan for Week Here

"Hire the handicapped— it's good business," is the slogan of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 6 through 12, Ward C. Miller, head of the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, points out.

"Handicapped people, properly placed, can do as good a job as non-handicapped people," Miller noted, observing that the local office is making a special effort this week to get proper placements for the handicapped.

Miller noted, however, that the local office works on the project all year, and that observance of the "week" is only one of several activities sponsored to remind the public of the handicapped person's values as an employee.

Records of both industry and government show that a handicapped person in the right job is just as efficient and just as productive as a non-handicapped person would be, Miller noted.

The "week" was originally established by the 79th U. S. Congress. City Manager James F. Parkinson had proclaimed it here this year.

Eastside PTA Meets, Hears New Principal

James Stroud, new principal of Eastside School, was the guest speaker at the school PTA meeting held Tuesday evening.

Otis Core introduced Stroud who used as his topic "Fundamentals in Elementary Education."

Stroud worked for the government in the field of education in Japan.

He is interested in Scouting and hopes to organize a troop at Eastside soon.

Roger Hoffman, president, introduced Robert Terhune, member of the Board of Education, who spoke on the need for renewal of the school operating levy.

A reception in honor of Stroud, followed the meeting, with the officers in charge. They are, president, Roger Hoffman; vice president, Mrs. Walter Haines; secretary, Mrs. Richard Wood; and treasurer, John Bailey.

Policemen Admit Striking Suspects

RAVENNA (AP)—Prosecutor Robert E. Cook says two police officers admit striking two young men they questioned about the slaying of a Kent bookstore owner.

One of the young men, 21-year-old Roland S. Metcalf, confessed to the murder of John H. DuBois. But because of the alleged police brutality, his attorney Tuesday asked for a new arraignment, and permission to change Metcalf's plea to innocent.

The other young man, 21-year-old Clyde Williamson of Kent, was cleared of suspicion.

Cook said Akron detective Grover Goodwell admitted he struck Metcalf several times, and Kent patrolmen Paul Petrella admitted he struck Williamson several times.

Fish, Game Assn. Plans Full Docket

A full agenda awaits members of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. when they gather at the lodge near Buena Vista at 8 p. m. Thursday for their monthly meeting.

Among the subjects expected to be brought up for discussion are the hunting safety program sponsored by the association; the nesting boxes for wood ducks the club is putting up on stakes in streams all over the county; the pheasant feeding program and a trap shoot.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the business meeting and the evening will be closed with the showing of wildlife movies.

Gasoline Stolen From Parked Car

Prowlers stole about five gallons of gasoline from a car parked on Carolyn Rd. Tuesday night, and rifled the glove compartment of another auto parked across the street.

Gasoline was siphoned from an auto belonging to Mrs. Howard Bennett, 724 Carolyn Rd. Wayne Bower, 727 Carolyn Rd., is the owner of the other car from which nothing was taken.

launched. That means it is not quite a perfect circle and the satellite's orbit may periodically draw it closer to earth. The spokesman said the laboratory estimates it has an average height of about 400 miles.

Because scientific data on the satellite's path still is somewhat incomplete, he said, it may be that the points where Sputnik normally drops closer to the earth may vary slightly with each orbit. That, he explained, would account for some of the reports that the satellite is dropping down from its original orbit.

This morning's flights over the United States were all on a northwest to southeast bearing. When Sputnik makes its next pass sometime tonight it will be traveling in southwest to northeast.

There was six-hour period during which the laboratory heard nothing from the sphere, but early today it again began picking up the "beep, beep" of its radio transmissions.

Pressure for government action is mounting. Sen. Symington (D-Mo), said he had sent Eisenhower a telegram urging him to call a special session of Congress.

Several members of Congress have called for an investigation to determine why the United States apparently is lagging behind Russia in the field of satellites and some other technical areas. A Senate subcommittee staff already has started an inquiry.

Refugee-Spy Gets 7-Year Prison Term

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Soble, a Lithuanian refugee who took shelter in America in World War II and then headed a Soviet spy ring here for a decade, today faced seven years imprisonment for his crime.

Soble, 54, was sentenced Tuesday by Federal Judge Richard H. Levet. His wife Myra, 53, and 64-year-old Jacob Albam, co-conspirators who had also pleaded guilty to spy conspiracy charges, were resentenced Tuesday. Mrs. Soble was given four years and Albam five; they had been sentenced previously to 5½ each.

Each of the three could have been sentenced to 10 years. But Judge Levet said: "There is, I believe, strong indication of remorse on the part of the defendants."

After his arrest last Jan. 26, Soble underwent an apparently complete change of heart. Saying he deeply regretted betraying his adopted country, he helped federal authorities unravel the thread of his network of espionage.

The government said Soble's cooperation helped obtain spying indictments against several others, including Alfred K. Stern and Martha Dodd Stern, daughter of a former American ambassador to Germany. The Sterns are now believed behind the Iron Curtain.

'Traveler' Faces Sentence Oct. 20

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Speedie, 51, nicknamed "The Traveler" by police and described by them as the onetime No. 1 bad check passer in the nation, pleaded guilty Tuesday to five counts of forgery.

Sentencing is set for Oct. 30.

Speedie was arrested last month near Cleveland. Detectives traced him through 44 states, said he left a 14-year trail of bad checks costing victims an estimated $500,000.

Students in Poland Troop Back to Class

WARSAW (AP)—Students trooped back to Warsaw Polytechnic School today for the first time since their demonstrations last week against censorship and police methods.

Warsaw was quiet Tuesday night. It was the first night free of clashes between demonstrators and police since last Thursday.

Selden Grange Has Open House

Objectives Outlined By R. Bruce Tom

Selden Grange observed "Operation Forward" with an open house meeting Wednesday night in the Staunton School.

The stage was set for the meeting by a supper. On the dining room committee were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Wycoff, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Carwile, Mrs. Dora Mark, Mrs. Clara Schwart, Homer Stewart, Ray Baughn and Marion Baughn.

The meeting proper opened with group singing led by Mrs. Doris Wipert. Then the retiring Master Barton Montgomery, master of ceremonies for the occasion, presented the new master, Ralph Nisley, and asked him to give the assembly a little Grange history and explain its goals and objectives.

Nisley introduced the speaker of the evening, R. Bruce Tom, lecturer of the Ohio State Grange. Tom was on the faculty of Ohio State University as rural extension sociologist for many years.

He said that in Granges and many similar organizations, there were talents that were not being utilized. "Nearly every Grange", he said. "has members who are qualified to enter into discussions and put on programs. The best programs are those in which the members participate. . .use your resources."

* * *

FOLLOWING the address, the master introduced Mrs. Tom; Mrs. Madge Winter, Pomona lecturer; Mrs. Martha Pfeifer, from Fayette Grange, and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Whiteside, deputies for Fayette County.

Whiteside announced the Fayette County Grange officers' installation will be held at Marshall Grange Hall in Jeffersonville next Monday evening by the David Dowler installation team from Pickaway County.

Other meetings announced by Master Montgomery were: Pomona Grange on Thursday night, at the Farm Bureau auditorium; the State Grange sessions at Columbus, Oct. conference at Clarksburg School in Ross County on Dec. 7.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the benediction.

County Offices To Close Saturday

All county offices and banks here will be closed Saturday in observance of Columbus Day.

The post office announces that it will not observe the holiday, but will offer regular Saturday service.

Retail stores will remain "open for business as usual," Jack Daves, president of the Retail Merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce said.

Hibernation Not Fashion In Boat Clan

Many Craft Go South Instead of Into Storage These Days

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Hibernation is less fashionable today among boating fans.

Many boats go south instead of into storage on ice choked shores. Increasing sales of boats and motors in the South have brought the number to almost one third of the nation's total. Even in the northern states the boating season is being extended well beyond the traditional Labor Day close. Outboard motor companies, like the auto makers, have pushed up the showing of new models from January to early fall.

Boat and motor makers credit prosperous times for much of the gain in their sales. There are in the nation now six million boats and some 30 million boaters.

Population growth has been marked in the open weather states of the South and Pacific coast. This, and especially the increased number of persons in the middle brackets, have opened a wide market.

Increased leisure time is a big factor. So is the trend toward making the outboard motor boat a family conveyance instead of chiefly the property of the hunter and fisherman.

With the whole family piling in, both the boats and the motors are becoming bigger all the time. Johnson Motors is bringing out a new 50 horsepower motor. Evinrude Motors also is bringing out a new 50 horsepower motor.

In 1941 the average horsepower rating of all outboard motors was 3.6. The average has climbed to 15.

William Jonas, director of sales and advertising for Johnson Motors, predicts sales will be up 10 to 15 per cent in dollar volume in the sales year just starting.

Howard F. Larson, director of sales for Evinrude, expects an 18 per cent gain in unit sales and 28 per cent increase in dollar volume.

He credits much of the sales increase in the southern tier of states to the gain in purchasing power there since the war, plus more business use of outboard motors by oil, logging and commercial fishing companies.

Jonas adds some other factors in boating's popularity — artificial lakes that are being added year by year, the electric starter and the reduction of noise.

Industry spokesmen say that sales and output of outboards doubled between 1953 and 1956. They expect that next year boaters will spend about 1¼ billion dollars for boats, motors, and supplies, including boat trailers of which there are now some 750,000 in use.

Larson points out the success of a new marketing device. It combines the auto dealer's trade in of old cars for new with the department store's law away plan. Boaters turn in their old motors at the end of the season and take delivery on their new ones when the ice is out of the lake or river.

The outboard motor's industry's big headache at the moment is the competition with the auto men. This is the season, too, when the new cars come out. It's a rare family these days that can afford both at the same time.

Jack Benny Quits Quiz Show after Winning but $64

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny climbed just one rung on The $64,000 Question financial ladder Tuesday night and decided it was a dizzying height. He quit—and left the show just $64 richer.

Benny, whose closeness with a dollar is one of his theatrical trademarks, insisted on stopping with $64 even though quizmaster Hal March told him such a thing had never been done before. Traveling expenses alone for Benny to come from California had cost $300, March said.

But the dry-witted comedian insisted. And since the show was not prepared with a check, March and other members of the cast dug up $64 from their own wallets.

Benny won the money on the one and only question in his category, the violin. He gave the first name of the violin maker Stradivari (Antonio) and his birthplace (Cremona, Italy).

Club Service Program Topic For Rotarians

The program presented at the Rotary Club's Tuesday luncheon meeting at the Country Club, was devoted to various features of club service.

Vice Chairman Joe W. Campbell, program chairman for the day, called upon representatives of four club committees for reports on the activities of each committee.

• • •

L. M. HAYES presented the report of the Washington Park Board of which he is a member, and told of the financial status of the swimming pool at this time and of the increasing success each year of the park and pool.

• • •

HAYES EXPLAINED the board has a balance of approximately $ 21.000 in its treasury, a large part of which is earmarked for some future improvements. He said there have been 258 master memberships sold this season along with 995 associate memberships. Also sold were 8,520 adult and 10,526 children's guest tickets.

Hayes stated that the pool and park represented a $100,000 investment.

Joe Peters, chairman of the Rotary information committee talked expecially on correct procedure regarding proposing new members and their indoctrination upon accepting membership.

Eli Craig, representing the Rotary Magazine committee told of the high value of this publication and how it had improved year by year.

Dewey Sheidler talked about the Four-Way Test and how those who follow it are contributing to civic assets. He also stated that the committee which handles this in connection with the club's vocational service work, has about completed arrangements to have it introduced in the city and and county schools.

• • •

DURING the meeting Vernon Seaver and Robert McGee of the Hillsboro Rotary Club, explained plans for the Tri-city meeting of Rotarians and their Anns at Snow Hill Country Club on the evening of Oct. 22.

The regular meeting here of the Washington Club has been cancelled for that day because of the three-club event.

• • •

BIRTHDAY greetings were sung for Dr. F. D. Woollard, Dr. Stewart B. Smith, Dr. Irvin L. Pumphrey, W. W. Montgomery and Edmond Woodmansee. All contributed to the club youth fund.

Student guests presented by John Ellcessor were Robert Beevings and Ben Backenstoe. Another guest introduced was Andre Metais who was with William Stoughton, Rotarian Dr. Walter Felson of Greenfield, a frequent guest here, also was present.

Circleville Faces $190,000 Suit

CIRCLEVILLE—A $190,000 damage suit has been filed against the City of Circleville by George Bidinger of Pike County.

Bidinger, who last January was awarded an exclusive garbage collection franchise by the City, charged in his petition that the city has "wilfully and maliciously encouraged independent haulers to haul garbage and rubbish."

According to Bidinger, the city breached its franchise contract with him by not enforcing its garbage ordinance which prohibits anyone other than the franchise holder from hauling or collecting garbage in Circleville.

Bidinger claims $90,000 in actual damages and $100,000 in punitive damages because city officials have been "so wilful and malicious and in such flagrant disregard of plaintiff's rights."

She Divorces Same Man Fourth Time

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Frances H. Adelsperger has been divorced for the fourth time from Henry E. Adelsperger, a Detroit industrialist. Circuit Court awarded her a cash settlement of $57,500 on her complaint charging her husband with having a bad temper. She had received more than $250,000 in past settlements.

Beet Allotment Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's allotment for sugar beet crops next year will be 22,125 acres, the Agriculture Department announced Tuesday. Last year's allotment was 22,736 acres.

Full Dress Drill on Street Set for Eagles Meeting Sunday

The big thing about next Sunday's district meeting of the Eagles Lodge here—so far as the public is concerned—will be the full dress drill by the team from the Linden Aerie in Columbus.

The drill will be put on at 1 p. m. on Main St. between Market and Court Sts. This drill, it it was said, will be just like the one the Linden team will put on next week at the Pumpkin Show at Circleville.

In order to give plenty of room for the drill team's maneuvers and for the spectators, this section of Main St. will be blocked off about noon, Police Chief Vaiden Long said.

Around 200 Eagles and their wives are expected to come here from the seven other aeries in this district—three in Columbus, and one each in London, Springfield, Xenia and Circleville.

• • •

THE REGULAR business meeting is scheduled for 2 p. m. in the aerie at Market and Fayette Sts. here.

Maynard Floyd of Wilmington, a state vice president representing the southwestern zone of the lodge, is to be the principal speaker at the business session.

Officers of the aerie here said that although they had not seen an advance agenda of the meeting, it is almost certain that plans for increasing membership and the Boys Village, north of Wooster, sponsored by the Eagles will be brought up for discussion from the floor. They said they expected Lloyd would touch on these during his talk.

Most of the other business, they said, probably will be of the routine type concerning lodge procedures of interest to Eagles only. Since the district meetings are held each month, they explained, major issues that warrant attention do not develop at every one.

Something new has been added to this meeting, Charles Osborne, the secretary said. Wives of the Eagles have been invited to come also and special program of speakers and entertainment has been arranged for them. It will be held on the third floor of the Eagles building.

The aerie here has a membership of around 800 now, Osborne said and added that about a fourth of them are expected to join the 200 Eagles and their wives from other cities for the two meetings in the afternoon.

30 From Here Expected at GOPFundFeed

Reservations have been made by 30 Fayette Countians for the $50-a-plate Republican dinner to be held tonight (Wednesday) in the Youth Center at the state Fairgrounds in Columbus, Belford F. Carpenter, chairman of the finance committee of the Fayette County Republican organization, said just before he left.

Carpenter added that he thought all of those who made reservations would be at the dinner. Colin C. Campbell is vice-chairman of the committee.

The purpose of the dinner, scheduled for 6:30 p. m., is to raise funds for the Republican organization to conduct campaigns on the local, state and national levels. Around 1,500 are are expected at the dinner from 30 south-central Ohio counties. Samuel S. Davis, president of The Corrugated Container Co., is the dinner chairman.

Among the diners will be Republican elected officials, including congressmen form the districts involved. Gov. and Mrs. C. William O'Neill will be there, too.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California will be the principal speaker. Ohio's Sen. John W. Bricker will be the toastmaster.

And what will these 1,500 Republican get to eat for $50. The menu is: Tomato juice and crackers, celery, olives, carrot strips, prime roast ribs of beef, baked Idaho potato en foil with sour cream, hearts of lettuce salad with gorgonzola dressing, rolls, coffee and ice cream pachyderm.

This is not the only such dinner planned by Ohio Republicans to raise money. There is to be one at $100 a plate in Cincinnati Thursday night.

30-Day Advance Leave Granted Navy Reenlistees

Former U. S. Navey men can reenlist today, go on the payroll right now— and not return to duty for another month—Chief Philip G. Lee at the local recruiting office, 212 N. Fayette St., points out.

Up to 30 days of advance leave to all reenlistees, regardless of how long it has been since discharge, is being offered under a new benefit program, Lee said.

This new program will be coupled with existing programs which allow qualified reenlistees schooling, and which provide bonuses for men reenlisting within 90 days from discharge date, Lee observed.

6 Eat Toadstools, 2 Seriously Ill

COLUMBUS (AP) — Six persons were ill here today after picking and eating toadstools over the weekend which they believed were mushrooms.

Five of the victims were hospitalized and two of those were listed in poor condition by hospital authorities.

Dr. Clayton S. Smith of the Department of Medicine at Ohio State University said, "Poisonous mushrooms contain a poison which gradually slows down the heart beat and finally causes it to stop. The mortality in these cases has been reported to be around 40 to 50 per cent."

Guilt Confessed In Baby-Beating

CINCINNATI (AP)—A husky, 205-pound mother pleaded guilty in court here Tuesday to manslaughter in connection with the fatal beating last July 27 of her four-month-old baby.

Judge Charles E. Weber deferred passing sentence on Mrs. Minnie Owens, 27, for a probation investigation.

The baby boy, Warren, died on July 28 and an autopsy showed death was due to a fractured skull. Police said Mrs. Owens admitted beating the baby.

Awards Given 4-H Members

Olive Community Circle Has Meeting

The Olive Community Circle held its regular monthly meeting at the school.

During the business meeting, in charge of the president, Mrs. Austin Huff, completion of the black top basketball court at the Olive School was discussed.

Some new books are to be purchased for the library of the school; the teachers are to select them.

Phil Grover, associate county agent, presented the various awards to the Happy Homemakers and the Atomic Farmers 4-H Club members for the past year. He was assisted by Mrs. Russell Theobald and Donald Rife. The other advisors, Mrs. Everett Page and Will Braun, were given recognization. Grover closed this portion of the program with an outline of plans for the coming 4-H year. Thirty members of the two clubs received their awards and special recognitation for their accomplishments of the past year.

Mrs. Huff introduced Mr. and Mrs. John Leland of Washington C. H., who showed movies of their recent Caribbean cruise. Leland gave a description of the entire trip and much of the history and customs of the islands they visited. They presented articles from the countries and gave explanations of each.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worley, M. and Mrs. Russell Lanman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. William Green.

Washington Cemetery Winter Cleanup Due

John Spangler, superintendent of the Washington Cemetery, reports that he plans to begin cleaning up the grounds for the winter season in about a week. Those wishing to save flower pots and other containers on their lots in the cemetery are asked to get their pots from the cemetery before the winter cleanup begins.

Second Baptist Church To Have Special Service

The Rev. J. P. Burnett, pastor of St. Mark's Baptist Church in Columbus, will conduct the service at the Second Baptist Church here at 3 p. m.

Special music will be provided by the choir from the St. Mark's Church. A delegation from the church's congregation also is to come from Columbus.

The service is sponsored by the Missionary Society of the Second Baptist Church.

Greenfield Widens Halloween Curfew

GREENFIELD—In an effort to eliminate or at lease curtail vandalism committed under the guise of Halloween pranks, the village council has extended the 10 p. m. curfew for children up to 14 years of age, to young people up to 18 years of age.

The extension was approved by council on the recommendations of Mayor Robert J. Smith and Police Chief Floyd Matlack.

Lady GOPster's Election Aim: No Lead in Any Bottoms

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We aim to get the lead out of every bottom on election day."

That's what the lady said!

The lady (and she is one) is the chic socialite wife of one of the capital's top physicians, Dr. William S. Burdick, chief of staff of the Children's Hospital. She was giving me the gist of the program-planning committee of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Burdick, former president of the District of Columbia branch of the federation, which boasts more than a half-million members throughout the country in some 3,000 clubs, is chairman of the national organization's program activities for the next four years.

"That includes plans for electing a Republican Congress in 1958 and keeping a Republican president in the White House in 1960," she said.

"We'll start right off, getting our show on the road," she said, "lambasting the propaganda against the Eisenhower administration which unfortunately is being carried on by some Republicans."

It isn't the women, it's the "old-time politicians" who aren't pleased with Ike's administration, she explained, adding:

"The women still want to see him get out of the second term with his program activated. And we will emphasize the importance of picking a winner in 1960 among the candidates."

GOP women, Mrs. Burdick says, are not discouraged by the surprise landslide victory of Democrat William Proxmire of Wisconsin in the election to fill the Senate seat of Joseph McCarthy. "It's a crazy, mixed-up state anyway," she said.

Mrs. A. B. Herman, of Bethesda, Md., the federation's campaign activities chairman, and Mrs. Burdick are coordinating their efforts to help spark the activities of community groups, emphasizing the need of working on the precinct level especially at campaign time. They'll encourage the training of Republican women leaders, and such things as town meetings and round - table groups.

"We'll also urge the formation of 'welcome neighbor' groups to get acquainted with women in their block," Mrs. Burdick explained. "People do not always want to belong to clubs."

Programs will center around interests indigenous to the different localities, she added.

Hibernation Not Fashion In Boat Clan

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Hibernation is less fashionable today among boating fans.

Many boats go south instead of into storage on ice choked shores. Increasing sales of boats and motors in the South have brought the number to almost one third of the nation's total. Even in the northern states the boating season is being extended well beyond the traditional Labor Day close. Outboard motor companies, like the auto makers, have pushed up the showing of new models from January to early fall.

Boat and motor makers credit prosperous times for much of the gain in their sales. There are in the nation now six million boats and some 30 million boaters.

Population growth has been marked in the open weather states of the South and Pacific coast. This, and especially the increased number of persons in the middle brackets, have opened a wide market.

Increased leisure time is a big factor. So is the trend toward making the outboard motor boat a family conveyance instead of chiefly the property of the hunter and fisherman.

With the whole family piling in, both the boats and the motors are becoming bigger all the time. Johnson Motors is bringing out a new 50 horsepower motor. Evinrude Motors also is bringing out a new 50 horsepower motor.

In 1941 the average horsepower rating of all outboard motors was 3.6. The average has climbed to 15.

William Jonas, director of sales and advertising for Johnson Motors, predicts sales will be up 10 to 15 per cent in dollar volume in the sales year just starting.

Howard F. Larson, director of sales for Evinrude, expects an 18 per cent gain in unit sales and 28 per cent increase in dollar volume.

He credits much of the sales increase in the southern tier of states to the gain in purchasing power there since the war, plus more business use of outboard motors by oil, logging and commercial fishing companies.

Jonas adds some other factors in boating's popularity — artificial lakes that are being added year by year, the electric starter and the reduction of noise.

Industry spokesmen say that sales and output of outboards doubled between 1953 and 1956. They expect that next year boaters will spend about 1¼ billion dollars for boats, motors, and supplies, including boat trailers of which there are now some 750,000 in use.

Larson points out the success of a new marketing device. It combines the auto dealer's trade in of old cars for new with the department store's law away plan. Boaters turn in their old motors at the end of the season and take delivery on their new ones when the ice is out of the lake or river.

The outboard motor's industry's big headache at the moment is the competition with the auto men. This is the season, too, when the new cars come out. It's a rare family these days that can afford both at the same time.

Jack Benny Quits Quiz Show after Winning but $64

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny climbed just one rung on The $64,000 Question financial ladder Tuesday night and decided it was a dizzying height. He quit—and left the show just $64 richer.

Benny, whose closeness with a dollar is one of his theatrical trademarks, insisted on stopping with $64 even though quizmaster Hal March told him such a thing had never been done before. Traveling expenses alone for Benny to come from California had cost $300, March said.

But the dry-witted comedian insisted. And since the show was not prepared with a check, March and other members of the cast dug up $64 from their own wallets.

Benny won the money on the one and only question in his category, the violin. He gave the first name of the violin maker Stradivari (Antonio) and his birthplace (Cremona, Italy).

Club Service Program Topic For Rotarians

The program presented at the Rotary Club's Tuesday luncheon meeting at the Country Club, was devoted to various features of club service.

Vice Chairman Joe W. Campbell, program chairman for the day, called upon representatives of four club committees for reports on the activities of each committee.

* * *

L. M. HAYES presented the report of the Washington Park Board of which he is a member, and told of the financial status of the swimming pool at this time and of the increasing success each year of the park and pool.

* * *

HAYES EXPLAINED the board has a balance of approximately $ 21.000 in its treasury, a large part of which is earmarked for some future improvements. He said there have been 258 master memberships sold this season along with 995 associate memberships. Also sold were 8,520 adult and 10,526 children's guest tickets.

Hayes stated that the pool and park represented a $100,000 investment.

Joe Peters, chairman of the Rotary information committee talked expecially on correct procedure regarding proposing new members and their indoctrination upon accepting membership.

Eli Craig, representing the Rotary Magazine committee told of the high value of this publication and how it had improved year by year.

Dewey Sheidler talked about the Four-Way Test and how those who follow it are contributing to civic assets. He also stated that the committee which handles this in connection with the club's vocational service work, has about completed arrangements to have it introduced in the city and and county schools.

* * *

DURING the meeting Vernon Seaver and Robert McGee of the Hillsboro Rotary Club, explained plans for the Tri-city meeting of Rotarians and their Anns at Snow Hill Country Club on the evening of Oct. 22.

The regular meeting here of the Washington Club has been cancelled for that day because of the three-club event.

* * *

BIRTHDAY greetings were sung for Dr. F. D. Woollard, Dr. Stewart B. Smith, Dr. Irvin L. Pumphrey, W. W. Montgomery and Edmond Woodmansee. All contributed to the club youth fund.

Student guests presented by John Ellcessor were Robert Beevings and Ben Backenstoe. Another guest introduced was Andre Metais who was with William Stoughton, Rotarian Dr. Walter Felson of Greenfield, a frequent guest here, also was present.

Circleville Faces $190,000 Suit

CIRCLEVILLE—A $190,000 damage suit has been filed against the City of Circleville by George Bidinger of Pike County.

Bidinger, who last January was awarded an exclusive garbage collection franchise by the City, charged in his petition that the city has "wilfully and maliciously encouraged independent haulers to haul garbage and rubbish."

According to Bidinger, the city breached its franchise contract with him by not enforcing its garbage ordinance which prohibits anyone other than the franchise holder from hauling or collecting garbage in Circleville.

Bidinger claims $90,000 in actual damages and $100,000 in punitive damages because city officials have been "so wilful and malicious and in such flagrant disregard of plaintiff's rights."

She Divorces Same Man Fourth Time

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Frances H. Adelsperger has been divorced for the fourth time from Henry E. Adelsperger, a Detroit industrialist. Circuit Court awarded her a cash settlement of $57,500 on her complaint charging her husband with having a bad temper. She had received more than $250,000 in past settlements.

Beet Allotment Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's allotment for sugar beet crops next year will be 22,125 acres, the Agriculture Department announced Tuesday. Last year's allotment was 22,736 acres.

Full Dress Drill on Street Set for Eagles Meeting Sunday

The big thing about next Sunday's district meeting of the Eagles Lodge here—so far as the public is concerned—will be the full dress drill by the team from the Linden Aerie in Columbus.

The drill will be put on at 1 p. m. on Main St. between Market and Court Sts. This drill, it it was said, will be just like the one the Linden team will put on next week at the Pumpkin Show at Circleville.

In order to give plenty of room for the drill team's maneuvers and for the spectators, this section of Main St. will be blocked off about noon, Police Chief Vaiden Long said.

Around 200 Eagles and their wives are expected to come here from the seven other aeries in this district—three in Columbus, and one each in London, Springfield, Xenia and Circleville.

* * *

THE REGULAR business meeting is scheduled for 2 p. m. in the aerie at Market and Fayette Sts. here.

Maynard Floyd of Wilmington, a state vice president representing the southwestern zone of the lodge, is to be the principal speaker at the business session.

Officers of the aerie here said that although they had not seen an advance agenda of the meeting, it is almost certain that plans for increasing membership and the Boys Village, north of Wooster, sponsored by the Eagles will be brought up for discussion from the floor. They said they expected Lloyd would touch on these during his talk.

Most of the other business, they said, probably will be of the routine type concerning lodge procedures of interest to Eagles only. Since the district meetings are held each month, they explained, major issues that warrant attention do not develop at every one.

Something new has been added to this meeting, Charles Osborne, the secretary said. Wives of the Eagles have been invited to come also and special program of speakers and entertainment has been arranged for them. It will be held on the third floor of the Eagles building.

The aerie here has a membership of around 800 now, Osborne said and added that about a fourth of them are expected to join the 200 Eagles and their wives from other cities for the two meetings in the afternoon.

30 From Here Expected at GOPFundFeed

Reservations have been made by 30 Fayette Countians for the $50-a-plate Republican dinner to be held tonight (Wednesday) in the Youth Center at the state Fairgrounds in Columbus, Belford F. Carpenter, chairman of the finance committee of the Fayette County Republican organization. said just before he left.

Carpenter added that he thought all of those who made reservations would be at the dinner. Colin C. Campbell is vice-chairman of the committee.

The purpose of the dinner, scheduled for 6:30 p. m., is to raise funds for the Republican organization to conduct campaigns on the local, state and national levels. Around 1,500 are are expected at the dinner from 30 south-central Ohio counties. Samuel S. Davis, president of The Corrugated Container Co., is the dinner chairman.

Among the diners will be Republican elected officials, including congressmen form the districts involved. Gov. and Mrs. C. William O'Neill will be there, too.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California will be the principal speaker. Ohio's Sen. John W. Bricker will be the toastmaster.

And what will these 1,500 Republican get to eat for $50. The menu is: Tomato juice and crackers, celery, olives, carrot strips, prime roast ribs of beef, baked Idaho potato en foil with sour cream, hearts of lettuce salad with gorgonzola dressing, rolls, coffee and ice cream pachyderm.

This is not the only such dinner planned by Ohio Republicans to raise money. There is to be one at $100 a plate in Cincinnati Thursday night.

Guilt Confessed In Baby-Beating

CINCINNATI (AP)—A husky, 205-pound mother pleaded guilty in court here Tuesday to manslaughter in connection with the fatal beating last July 27 of her four-month-old baby.

Judge Charles E. Weber deferred passing sentence on Mrs. Minnie Owens, 27, for a probation investigation.

The baby boy, Warren, died on July 28 and an autopsy showed death was due to a fractured skull. Police said Mrs. Owens admitted beating the baby.

30-Day Advance Leave Granted Navy Reenlistees

Former U. S. Navey men can reenlist today. go on the payroll right now— and not return to duty for another month—Chief Philip G. Lee at the local recruiting office, 212 N. Fayette St., points out.

Up to 30 days of advance leave to all reenlistees, regardless of how long it has been since discharge, is being offered under a new benefit program, Lee said.

This new program will be coupled with existing programs which allow qualified reenlistees schooling, and which provide bonuses for men reenlisting within 90 days from discharge date, Lee observed.

6 Eat Toadstools, 2 Seriously Ill

COLUMBUS (AP) — Six persons were ill here today after picking and eating toadstools over the weekend which they believed were mushrooms.

Five of the victims were hospitalized and two of those were listed in poor condition by hospital authorities.

Dr. Clayton S. Smith of the Department of Medicine at Ohio State University said, "Poisonous mushrooms contain a poison which gradually slows down the heart beat and finally causes it to stop. The mortality in these cases has been reported to be around 40 to 50 per cent."

Awards Given 4-H Members

Olive Community Circle Has Meeting

The Olive Community Circle held its regular monthly meeting at the school.

During the business meeting, in charge of the president, Mrs. Austin Huff, completion of the black top basketball court at the Olive School was discussed.

Some new books are to be purchased for the library of the school; the teachers are to select them.

Phil Grover, associate county agent, presented the various awards to the Happy Homemakers and the Atomic Farmers 4-H Club members for the past year. He was assisted by Mrs. Russell Theobald and Donald Rife. The other advisors, Mrs. Everett Page and Will Braun, were given recognization. Grover closed this portion of the program with an outline of plans for the coming 4-H year. Thirty members of the two clubs received their awards and special recognitation for their accomplishments of the past year.

Mrs. Huff introduced Mr. and Mrs. John Leland of Washington C. H., who showed movies of their recent Caribbean cruise. Leland gave a description of the entire trip and much of the history and customs of the islands they visited. They presented articles from the countries and gave explanations of each.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worley, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lanman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. William Green.

Lady GOPster's Election Aim: No Lead in Any Bottoms

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We aim to get the lead out of every bottom on election day."

That's what the lady said!

The lady (and she is one) is the chic socialite wife of one of the capital's top physicians, Dr. William S. Burdick, chief of staff of the Children's Hospital. She was giving me the gist of the program-planning committee of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Burdick, former president of the District of Columbia branch of the federation, which boasts more than a half-million members throughout the country in some 3,000 clubs, is chairman of the national organization's program activities for the next four years.

"That includes plans for electing a Republican Congress in 1958 and keeping a Republican president in the White House in 1960," she said.

"We'll start right off, getting our show on the road," she said, "lambasting the propaganda against the Eisenhower administration which unfortunately is being carried on by some Republicans."

It isn't the women, it's the "old-time politicians" who aren't pleased with Ike's administration, she explained, adding:

"The women still want to see him get out of the second term with his program activated. And we will emphasize the importance of picking a winner in 1960 among the candidates."

GOP women, Mrs. Burdick says, are not discouraged by the surprise landslide victory of Democrat William Proxmire of Wisconsin in the election to fill the Senate seat of Joseph McCarthy. "It's a crazy, mixed-up state anyway," she said.

Mrs. A. B. Herman, of Bethesda, Md., the federation's campaign activities chairman, and Mrs. Burdick are coordinating their efforts to help spark the activities of community groups, emphasizing the need of working on the precinct level especially at campaign time. They'll encourage the training of Republican women leaders, and such things as town meetings and round - table groups.

"We'll also urge the formation of 'welcome neighbor' groups to get acquainted with women in their block," Mrs. Burdick explained. "People do not always want to belong to clubs."

Programs will center around interests indigenous to the different localities, she added.

Fire Prevention Vitally Important To Us

In Washington C. H. and Fayette County as a whole we have been reasonably fortunate in not having any seriously heavy fire damage in recent years.

We imagine part of this good luck has been due to careful attention against fires by our residents and perhaps in part to the steady publicity toward fire prevention. Let's keep it that way.

In any event, this week, National Fire Prevention Week, gives everybody an opportunity to again review the home and business building situation to check against fire hazards.

For years all of us have been flooded with warnings as to the need for more safety on our streets and highways. It is equally important that we have dinned into our ears the danger of serious losses through fire.

Last year our national fire losses came to $989,290,000. That was a record. In 1957 the figures are still more frightening. After eight months the total was $706,333,000, representing a gain of 6.8 per cent over the comparable period of 1956.

If this pace is maintained through Dec. 31, then for the first time in history the country's fire losses will pass one billion dollars.

Insurance experts and fire officials make some allowance, of course, for the fact that inflated prices have affected the totals. The cost of replacing buildings and equipment and furnishings has soared in the past decade or more.

However even after compensating for this factor, they say, the totals are alarming. There are far more fires than there used to be.

Fifteen years ago 650,335 fires were reported, including 311,280 classed as building fires. In 1956 the total of all fires was 865,561, of which 408,952 were building fires.

One can say, perhaps, that the country today has many more buildings and many more people than in 1942, hence the increase is no great surprise.

But the National Board of Fire Underwriters says that in the 10 years ended Dec. 31, 1955, fires from four of the five leading causes could have been sharply reduced through education.

The five chief causes, in order of importance, were: matches and smoking, 26.36 per cent of fires; misuse of electricity, 14.69 per cent; lightning, 9.85 per cent, oil and its products, 6.99 per cent, and stoves, furnaces, pipes and boilers, 6.75 per cent. In terms of actual dollar losses, misuse of electricity was the most damaging.

Carelessness in the use of matches and in smoking is a personal matter which individuals must manage to guard against. The other "controllable" causes involve teaching people how to use dangerous materials and equipment, and inspecting regularly— not just occasionally— homes, commercial places and public buildings in search of defective apparatus and other fire hazards.

Laff-A-Day

"No matter WHAT you heard Aunt Alice say, they DON'T WHISTLE."

The Nation Today

By ED CREAGH
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — If anybody could look down upon the earth from that satellite, mightn't it appear that the United States and the Soviet Union are like an estranged couple: bickering furiously, ready to start slugging if need be, but really wedded to each other?

The idea may sound fantastic since the cold war has stopped defrosting. But there are some tantalizing hints in the marathon interview granted to James Reston of the New York Times by the big man in Russia, Nikita Khrushchev.

On the face of it, Khrushchev seemed to be taking the typical I want us to get together but hip-on-the-shoulder attitude: I want us to get together but you're doing thus-and-so and, anyhow, I can get along without you very well, and you'll hurt more than I do if the bustup is final.

Men in political life do not tend, of course, to put things quite so simply. Khrushchev did say, however:

1. Russia wants peaceful coexistence, friendly rivalry. (Many a long marriage has been based on less than that.)

2. The West is making all the trouble—keeping Germany divided, inciting Turkey against Syria, and so forth. (Just like in a domoestic squabble: I'm perfect, you're the one who's at fault.)

3. Communism continues to march forward and would survive a war of missiles while capitalism wouldn't. ("Go ahead, leave, and take the television set with you; but just wait until I get through with you in the divorce court.")

It would be far-fetched to carry this comparison too far, but it does look as if Khrushchev might have been thinking about the long, cold winter ahead even while pointing the way to the door.

There is not a question in the world that could not be solved, he said, if the Russians and Americans could approach each other as equals. What he meant here, of course, is that Uncle Sam should get down off his high horse and approach with posies in hand. Uncle Sam might reply he's afraid of getting bitten by a bear if he dismounts.

Khrushchev sounded another suggestive note. He did not claim the Russians are ahead in developing all new new weapons. Rather, as Reston put it: "The Soviet Union might be ahead on one thing today, but the United States would have it tomorrow and vice versa, he (Khrushchev) said. It is all one and the same science."

It is, indeed, and there in the long run may lie the answer to this world-splitting dispute.

Just as an estranged couple may draw together in the face of disaster which threatens both parties, this country and the Soviet Union may be forced together by a common danger arising from scientific forces which neither by itself can control.

It has become obvious that the two countries are not far apart in scientific development. It is evident, too, that each will strive harder than ever to outstrip the other, now that the United States has suffered the humiliation of being left behind in the satellite field, while the Russians have felt the intoxication of success.

Will a time come when the two countries must agree to live together rather then die separately? When both sides remember that in spite of all differences they're members of the same human family? An American TV singer named Tennessee Ernie Ford has a saying that may be appropriate: "What hurts is when you put other things ahead of keeping the family together. That's what really mildews the sheets."

Carry-Out Attendant Fatally Beaten by Thug

ERLANGER, Ky. (AP)—A slightly-built, 67-year-old Florence, Ky., man was beaten fatally here in an apparent robbery of a beer carry-out establishment here where he worked as an attendant.

The man, Harry Fullilove, died Tuesday in a hospital, about three hours after he was found unconscious by a customer.

Police said he had been beaten on the head at least 15 times with a blunt instrument. They said that approximately $100 was taken.

16 New Polio Cases Found in Ohio in Week

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Health reported 16 new polio cases in the state last week, the same number as reported during the corresponding week last year.

There have been 221 polio cases this year, compared with 495 for the similar period last year.

Some First Aid Tips For Child's Asthma

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A simple procedure which parents easily can follow at home will do much to ease the suffering of a young child with an acute attack of asthma.

Main thing is to be on the lookout for the first signs of an impending "cold" or asthma attack in an asthmatic youngster.

These symptoms include coughing, sneezing, a sore throat, nasal discharge or nasal obstruction, mucus in the throat and a change in the voice.

Other familiar signs are watering of the eyes, a glassy staring or a pale appearance of the eyes, conjunctivitis, dark circles under the eyes or swelling of the eyelids.

Upon noticing these symptoms, put the youngster to bed immediately in a room which is as free as possible from house dust, feathers and wool. Don't allow any pets or birds in the room with the child, either.

And make sure there are no odors from cooking, tobacco smoke, burning leaves or fresh paint about the house.

Now it goes without saying that the rest of the treatment should be carried out only upon the advice of your doctor. In fact, he will have to prescribe the medications.

He probably will suggest administering antihistamine nose drops. Any of the vasoconstricting preparations recommended by your physician will be all right.

Follow this with a cough medication containing ephedrine. Or maybe your doctor will choose a similar sympathomimetic preparation.

Generally, if your doctor advises it, these medications should be given every four hours during the first 24 hours while the child is awake, and thereafter as indicated.

Your doctor might recommend insertion of an aminophylline suppository each night at bedtime. Usually, this is repeated every 12 hours until the danger of an asthmatic attack is over.

Doctors at the University of Rochester School of Medicine have used this method with excellent results.

She's No Perpetual Ingenue

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Shirley Jones is a sweet, old-fashioned girl who doesn't want to spend the rest of her life acting like a sweet, old-fashioned girl.

"I'm afraid too many people think I am nothing but a perpetual ingenue—able to play only saccharine roles," she said.

"But no human being is really that way. I want to be able to portray all the emotions of a normal girl living in the present part of the 20th century."

Shirley, a Smithton, Pa., brewer's daughter, has had only one small setback in her career. She failed to win a contest to represent her state in the "Miss America" beauty contest. But after appearing in the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera, she won star rank in two important Hollywood productions, "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel."

But was she to spend the rest of her life in crinolines? Some meanies were unkind enough to suggest that Miss Jones, although she had a wonderful voice, was a bit on the chubby side and maybe the crinolines were a merciful favor.

Shirley's answer was to diet down to a svelte 113 pounds (she's 5 feet 5) for her latest film, "April Love," costarring Pat Boone. Only a born churl could find fault with her figure now.

The film is a rural harness racing epic and is perhaps most notable for the fact it contains no drug addicts or juvenile delinquency. Nobody even gets beat up in it, and even the horses are honest.

The trimmed-down Jones chassis is seen to good advantage as Shirley does a chaste strip tease while preparing to take a shower.

One of her goals is to appear in a stage show with her husband, Jack Cassidy, who is a veteran of 23 Broadway productions.

She and Cassidy, who have bought a home on the west coast live quietly and avoid the rounds of cafe society. Shirley not only looks like "the girl next door," she can cook like the mother of the girl next door, and enjoys it.

"Eventually I want to raise a family of four or five children," she said. "If I can have them and stay in show business I will. But if it becomes too much of a task, then I'll get out."

What Ails the Post Office?

By George Sokolsky

The sole test of the efficiency of the Post Office is the delivery of the mail, whether the mail arrives at a reasonable hour, whether it is properly distributed without sending somebody else's letters to you and yours to somebody else, whether it is delivered often enough to be reasonable.

For the Post Office, operating in a period of inflation with rising costs in all departments, but in many respects inefficient because of statutory regulations, this poses a very serious problem in management.

Granted that all costs have gone up due to a government-made inflation, the Post Office in recent years has not proved itself to be as efficient as it has been in the memory of man. Where I live and work, we get one delivery a day. We used to get first three and then two deliveries.

Most want to receive their mail before they go to work, which is usually about 8:30 a. m. Of course, those who only expect bills or circulars in the mail, do not care when they arrive, if ever.

In our tenement we generally received the mail about 8, all delivered up to the eighth floor where I live. Because my mail is large, it is usually all wrapped in a bundle so that secondary selection by the elevator men was unnecessary.

As I write this, it is now 9:35 a. m. and the mail has not yet arrived. Upon inquiry I am told that it may not arrive before 10 a. m. or even 10:30 a. m. At any rate, the service ain't what it used to be.

No excuse is offered for the current inefficiency except that they are trying out some new experiment. What it actually amounts to is that for many who live in this house and similar houses in this neighborhood, the person receiving the mail may not see it until he returns from work in the early evening.

It involves a change in the public habits, imposed by a Post Office that has somehow not been able to adjust itself to doing the business that it is called upon to do although it is now headed by a businessman who has been remarkably successful in his own enterprise.

The management difficulties encountered by the Post Office arise from the high cost of operations due to the Post Office carrying more of a load than it can efficiently do and also to the fact that this agency of the government which should be fully mechanized remains antiquated in many respects.

This is not the fault of whoever may be in charge of the entire system at the moment or of local postmasters or superintendents. It is the fault of a vast accumulation of acts of Congress, of an impractical and inefficient employment system, of inadequate mechanization and modernization, and losses incurred by the carrying of free mail for which there is no justification.

If the Post Office were properly managed as a business, it would carry no free mail. The government's mail costs ought to be charged to the department sending the mail and not to the Post Office.

Also, Congress should pay its own expenses, including postage. Thus, the Post Office deficit could be reduced, although not the cost of government operations.

This is a futile suggestion and will not be accepted but when Post Office officials justify late deliveries by a rectial of all their other troubles, the citizen is likely to put plugs in his ears because he ought really not to pay the slightest attention to the matter. The business of the Post Office is to deliver the mails, on time and in good order.

One excuse given for the superior mail service say of London over New York is that the British Post Office makes enough money on the telephone system to overcome Post Office losses.

But we, in the United States, have an efficient and competent telephone system which we do not wish to lose either to please a postmaster general or to overcome a Post Office deficit.

Therefore, the Post Office ought to operate efficiently despite its difficultues which are no greater than anybody else's who operates a business.

Inflation has hit every walk of lifeand human beings go about doing the best they can despite faulty government policies. The Post Office ought to do at least as well now as during depression and war years.

City Buying Problems Eyed At Conference

CINCINNATI (AP)—The purchasing commissioner of New York City said Tuesday that a flock of bids is no guarantee that a city is getting competitive offers on the things it buys.

Joseph V. Spagna, in an address to the National Institute of Government Purchasing, said the test of a government buyer is his ability to secure competition.

"It is important that the bids are competitive in nature," he said, "and that they are not collusive or in violation of existing laws."

He said that one problem is pressure from local merchants and from labor groups.

The business "seek preference in awards to local merchants," he said; "the other looks for restrictive requirements of manufacture in union shops.

"Neither group can be appeased under current provisions of our laws and I would assume generally that such is the case in every other state in the union."

Spagna said that labor has been receiving greater recognition and "we still can act within the law which, in our case, permits us to insert in the proposal a provision requiring that the prevailing rate of wages in the area shall govern."

In another address Tuesday, John F. Ward, Chicago city purchasing agent, told delegates that those who set up standards for city buying often run into resistance from "departments who like a particular item and that item only, and are reluctant to make changes or adopt new ideas."

Fire Prevention Vitally Important To Us

In Washington C. H. and Fayette County as a whole we have been reasonably fortunate in not having any seriously heavy fire damage in recent years.

We imagine part of this good luck has been due to careful attention against fires by our residents and perhaps in part to the steady publicity toward fire prevention. Let's keep it that way.

In any event, this week, National Fire Prevention Week, gives everybody an opportunity to again review the home and business building situation to check against fire hazards.

For years all of us have been flooded with warnings as to the need for more safety on our streets and highways. It is equally important that we have dinned into our ears the danger of serious losses through fire.

Last year our national fire losses came to $989,290,000. That was a record. In 1957 the figures are still more frightening. After eight months the total was $706,333,000, representing a gain of 6.8 per cent over the comparable period of 1956.

If this pace is maintained through Dec. 31, then for the first time in history the country's fire losses will pass one billion dollars.

Insurance experts and fire officials make some allowance, of course, for the fact that inflated prices have affected the totals. The cost of replacing buildings and equipment and furnishings has soared in the past decade or more.

However even after compensating for this factor, they say, the totals are alarming. There are far more fires than there used to be.

Fifteen years ago 650,335 fires were reported, including 311,280 classed as building fires. In 1956 the total of all fires was 865,561, of which 408,952 were building fires.

One can say, perhaps, that the country today has many more buildings and many more people than in 1942, hence the increase is no great surprise.

But the National Board of Fire Underwriters says that in the 10 years ended Dec. 31, 1955, fires from four of the five leading causes could have been sharply reduced through education.

The five chief causes, in order of importance, were: matches and smoking, 26.36 per cent of fires; misuse of electricity, 14.69 per cent; lightning, 9.85 per cent, oil and its products, 6.99 per cent, and stoves, furnaces, pipes and boilers, 6.75 per cent. In terms of actual dollar losses, misuse of electricity was the most damaging.

Carelessness in the use of matches and in smoking is a personal matter which individuals must manage to guard against. The other "controllable" causes involve teaching people how to use dangerous materials and equipment, and inspecting regularly— not just occasionally— homes, commercial places and public buildings in search of defective apparatus and other fire hazards.

"No matter WHAT you heard Aunt Alice say, they DON'T WHISTLE."

The Nation Today

By ED CREAGH
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — If anybody could look down upon the earth from that satellite, mightn't it appear that the United States and the Soviet Union are like an estranged couple: bickering furiously, ready to start slugging if need be, but really wedded to each other?

The idea may sound fantastic since the cold war has stopped defrosting. But there are some tantalizing hints in the marathon interview granted to James Reston of the New York Times by the big man in Russia, Nikita Khrushchev.

On the face of it, Khrushchev seemed to be taking the typical I want us to get together but hip-on-the-shoulder attitude: I want us to get together but you're doing thus-and-so and, anyhow, I can get along without you very well, and you'll hurt more than I do if the bustup is final.

Men in political life do not tend, of course, to put things quite so simply. Khrushchev did say, however:

1. Russia wants peaceful coexistence, friendly rivalry. (Many a long marriage has been based on less than that.)

2. The West is making all the trouble—keeping Germany divided, inciting Turkey against Syria, and so forth. (Just like in a domoestic squabble: I'm perfect, you're the one who's at fault.)

3. Communism continues to march forward and would survive a war of missiles while capitalism wouldn't. ("Go ahead, leave, and take the television set with you; but just wait until I get through with you in the divorce court.")

It would be far-fetched to carry this comparison too far, but it does look as if Khrushchev might have been thinking about the long, cold winter ahead even while pointing the way to the door.

There is not a question in the world that could not be solved, he said, if the Russians and Americans could approach each other as equals. What he meant here, of course, is that Uncle Sam should get down off his high horse and approach with posies in hand. Uncle Sam might reply he's afraid of getting bitten by a bear if he dismounts.

Khrushchev sounded another suggestive note. He did not claim the Russians are ahead in developing all new new weapons. Rather, as Reston put it: "The Soviet Union might be ahead on one thing today, but the United States would have it tomorrow and vice versa, he (Khrushchev) said. It is all one and the same science."

It is, indeed, and there in the long run may lie the answer to this world-splitting dispute.

Just as an estranged couple may draw together in the face of disaster which threatens both parties, this country and the Soviet Union may be forced together by a common danger arising from scientific forces which neither by itself can control.

It has become obvious that the two countries are not far apart in scientific development. It is evident, too, that each will strive harder than ever to outstrip the other, now that the United States has suffered the humiliation of being left behind in the satellite field, while the Russians have felt the intoxication of success.

Will a time come when the two countries must agree to live together rather then die separately? When both sides remember that in spite of all differences they're members of the same human family? An American TV singer named Tennessee Ernie Ford has a saying that may be appropriate: "What hurts is when you put other things ahead of keeping the family together. That's what really mildews the sheets."

Phi Beta Psi Votes $250 to Help Hospital

Gamma chapter of the Phi Beta Psi Sorority voted to donated $250 for the purchase of a specialized centrifuge for the diagnostic laboratory at Memorial Hospital as they need equipment for this center.

Members came to this decision at their meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Edward Vollette, with the president, Mrs. Eddie McCoy, presiding.

A contribution was also made to the Community Chest and it was voted to donate $50 to the Council For Retarded Children.

The remainder of the evening was spent making cancer bandages to replenish the cancer closet at the Health Department.

This is one of the sorority's continuing projects and it is a part of the overall service program of the Fayette County unit of the National Cancer Society.

Prizes were awarded during the social hour after the business meeting to Mrs. Richard R. Willis Jr., Mrs. Frank Dawson and Mrs. Grove Davis.

Light refreshments were served and the assisting hostesses were Mrs. William Heinz, Mrs. Mark Schaeper and Mrs. William Limes.

Progress Club Hears Talk on Modern Israel

The Jeffersonville Progress Club's annual fall event was held at the home of the Misses Louise and Helen Fults Friday evening.

Mr. Ed Pickering of Jamestown, the guest speaker, gave an interesting and informative lecture, accompanied by slides, on the land of Israel.

Last year he spent five months in Israel in the agricultural study program sponsored by the International Farm Youth Exchange. He lived with five different farm groups and learned much of the customs, living conditions and desires of the people in this newly founded nation. Many of people there are refugees from other countries, he said.

He spoke principally of the farm life. Much of farming is done by a collective method, he said. The great desire of the people is, for peace and, he said, their greatest fear is of aggression.

Mr. Pickering's slides showed on farm crops under cultivation, family villages and the various types of homes.

Following the lecture, a question and answer period and a general discussion was held.

Mr. Pickering also modeled an Arab costume and showed many mementos from Israel.

There were 24 members and 12 guests present. The guests were Mrs. Charles Keller, Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. Lewis Korn, Mrs. C. D. Bush, Mrs. John Robbins, Mrs. Frank Marshall, Mrs. Willis Reese, Mrs. Otho Fent, Jeffersonville; Mrs. Willard Creamer, Washington C. H.; Mrs. Howard Mahoy, Detroit, Mich.; and Mrs. Carl Pickering of Jamestown.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Darlene Lemley, Miss Corinne Barker, Miss Louise Fults, Mrs. Anna Creamer and Mrs. Pearle Wiseman.

Mrs. Olinger Gives Talk on Better Thinking

The Xi Beta Psi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Olinger Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Eddie Sexton and the business session followed.

At this time donations were made to the Community Chest, and the Magnetic Springs Rehabilitation Center, a project in which the sorority participates.

Plans were made to hold a box social for the husbands on Oct. 12.

Mrs. Olinger gave three basic steps for achieving better thinking: (1) deliberately speak hopefully about everything; (2) feed your mind the same as your body by thinking wholesome thoughts; and (3) pray a great deal.

She quoted Norman Vincent Peale by saying: "Above everything believe in yourself. Have faith in your abilities, for without reasonable confidence in your own powers you can not be successful or happy and those feelings of confidence depend upon the type of thoughts that habitually occupy your mind. As parents we do too much thinking for our children, therefore they do not form the habit early in life. Practice thinking confident thoughts, make it a habit and you will develop a strong sense of capacity. Regardless of what difficulties arise you will be able to over come them."

She quoted William James as saying: "The greatest discovery of my generation is that human beings can alter their lives by altering their attitudes of mind. As you think so shall you be."

Mrs. Olinger gave three basic steps fr achieving better thinking: (1) feed your mind the same as your body; (2) do so by thinking wholesome thoughts; and (3) pray a great deal.

She ended her talk by saying: "Mind is the great leveler of all things. Human thought is the process by which human ends are ultimately achieved.

Open discussion was then held on "What Emotions Do You Believe Effect Our Thinking."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lee Alderman on Oct. 21.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I would like to ask you a question about so-called social drinking. I am a former widow, middle-aged, married of recent years to a man now in his fifties.

All my life I have seen people drink and never have thought it wrong. Both my parents drank lightly, and in my younger years, during my first marriage, I was surrounded by party drinkers. That is, Saturday night and special occasion drinkers—who might go for a week or weeks without a drink.

My present husband is home for lunch; and seven days a week, year in and year out, he takes one or maybe two very strong cocktails before lunch. These I mix myself to his taste, so I know they are strong—two, or three or four ounces of liquor.

Comes 5 o'clock in the afternoon, it is highball time, wherever he may be. On vacation, on a business trip, at home, the liquor is there (or carried there) for a predinner drink or drinks in generous measure.

In several years, I have seen him "high" perhaps four or five times. He rarely drinks after dinner, and to date there has been no problem. However, I find it difficult to understand this type of drinking. It would seem to me that he is unable to stop—and surely this is a form of alcoholism.

John claims it is purely habit, like smoking. What is your opinion? Do you think such drinking is progressive? I've no desire to create a problem where none exists. But I've seen so much of this type of drinking in our part of the country that I would appreciate your views, so that perhaps I will better understand.

V. R.

DEAR V.R.: As I get the pitch of the alcoholic personality, you might say that he (or she) has a constitution that is wired for trouble, in the event it comes in contact with alcoholic drink. Innately, for some reason or other, this person has a predisposition to become addicted to alcoholism, if social drinking is attempted. In his case, alcohol (in almost any amount) plays havoc with the glandular set-up that should function in the service of self-control.

Your present husband's moderately heavy daily drinking is something else. It suggests that he isn't predisposed to alcoholism; but only that he is, as he says, acquired a habit of drinking. He has cultivated a false appetite, and cordially applies himself to satisfying it. This is known as social drinking, which may, or may not, become a serious hazard.

In James Free's book "Just One More" (Coward-McCann), addressed to problem drinkers, Chapter 17 is devoted to a discussion of safe social drinking. To be on the safe side, every social drinker is advised to practice five precautions, to-wit:

1. Accept the fact that alcoholism is a progressive disease that can overtake anybody who drinks, even you.

2. Firmly decide to take any steps necessary to insure that this illness doesn't overtake you.

3. Embrace a specific policy of absolute moderation, with no exceptions, if you wish to play it safe.

4. Set an absolute limit on the number of drinks you will take on any drinking occasion.

5. Establish certain definite nights each week, when you will not drink at all. Schedule your no-alcohol evenings and stick with the schedule.

If a man habitually drinks thirstily, and refuses to consider the above precautions—for any reason or rationalization—Mr. Free sticks his neck out (as he says) and wagers: Either that man is unaware of the risks. Or he already has an obsessive need of alcohol (ingrained by habit). Or he has already lost control, without being ready to admit it.

And if this wager makes you drinking readers mad, well, you've had it, friends, says Mr. Free. Might as well step to the phone right now and put in your call to Alcoholics Anonymous.

Mr. Free is a worldly man, not a parlor theorist. He is head of his own advertising agency, with offices in seven cities. Also he is an avid avocado farmer in Southern California, an oilman in Texas, a sportsman and author of "Training Your Retriever," and—more recently — a Yale-trained lay therapist and consultant on problems of alcoholism. Read his book, to get an evaluation of your husband's drink pattern.

M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

'Potlikker Week' Opens in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Potlikker Week has begun in Alabama. Gov. James E. Folsom, in proclaiming the event, had a meal of potlikker, cornbread and buttermilk to mark the occasion.

In the South potlikker is the pot liquor left from boiling hog's jowl, or a similar meat, and greens.

Jewelry Is Stolen

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Washington woman says a thief entered her room in a downtown hotel here and stole $2,024 worth of jewelry. Police said Tuesday Mrs. Gloria Bergman told them the missing items include a $2,000 ring, a $20 wristwatch and $24 in cash.

Curious Prosecutor Learns His Lesson

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County Prosecutor C. Watson Hover had learned to keep his hands out of handcuffs.

The prosecutor, browsing around the property room at the courthouse Tuesday, came upon an old pair of handcuffs once used as evidence in a trial. He decided to try them on. They worked but there was no key.

Finally a deputy prosecutor found a hacksaw and freed the very red-faced prosecutor.

Truck Line Seeking Right To Carry Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — Motor Cargo, Inc., of Akron, Ohio, has asked the national motor freight classification board for a rate classification on U. S. mail. Announcement of the request was made at the 24th annual convention of the American Trucking Assn., where members predicted mail will eventually be carried by trucks rather than by other means of transportation.

The Mersman Brothers Corp. of Celina, Ohio, is the world's largest manufacturing plant devoting facilities exclusively to production of occasional tables.

Progress Club Hears Talk on Modern Israel

The Jeffersonville Progress Club's annual fall event was held at the home of the Misses Louise and Helen Fults Friday evening.

Mr. Ed Pickering of Jamestown, the guest speaker, gave an interesting and informative lecture, accompanied by slides, on the land of Israel.

Last year he spent five months in Israel in the agricultural study program sponsored by the International Farm Youth Exchange. He lived with five different farm groups and learned much of the customs, living conditions and desires of the people in this newly founded nation. Many of people there are refugees from other countries, he said.

He spoke principally of the farm life. Much of farming is done by a collective method, he said. The great desire of the people is, for peace and, he said, their greatest fear is of aggression.

Mr. Pickering's slides showed on farm crops under cultivation, family villages and the various types of homes.

Following the lecture, a question and answer period and a general discussion was held.

Mr. Pickering also modeled an Arab costume and showed many mementos from Israel.

There were 24 members and 12 guests present. The guests were Mrs. Charles Keller, Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. Lewis Korn, Mrs. C. D. Bush, Mrs. John Robbins, Mrs. Frank Marshall, Mrs. Willis Reese, Mrs. Otho Fent, Jeffersonville; Mrs. Willard Creamer, Washington C. H.; Mrs. Howard Mahoy, Detroit, Mich.; and Mrs. Carl Pickering of Jamestown.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Darlene Lemley, Miss Corinne Barker, Miss Louise Fults, Mrs. Anna Creamer and Mrs. Pearle Wiseman.

Mrs. Olinger Gives Talk on Better Thinking

The Xi Beta Psi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Olinger Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Eddie Sexton and the business session followed.

At this time donations were made to the Community Chest, and the Magnetic Springs Rehabilitation Center, a project in which the sorority participates.

Plans were made to hold a box social for the husbands on Oct. 12.

Mrs. Olinger gave three basic steps for achieving better thinking: (1) deliberately speak hopefully about everything; (2) feed your mind the same as your body by thinking wholesome thoughts; and (3) pray a great deal.

She quoted Norman Vincent Peale by saying: "Above everything believe in yourself. Have faith in your abilities, for without reasonable confidence in your own powers you can not be successful or happy and those feelings of confidence depend upon the type of thoughts that habitually occupy your mind. As parents we do too much thinking for our children, therefore they do not form the habit early in life. Practice thinking confident thoughts, make it a habit and you will develop a strong sense of capacity. Regardless of what difficulties arise you will be able to over come them."

She quoted William James as saying: "The greatest discovery of my generation is that human beings can alter their lives by altering their attitudes of mind. As you think so shall you be."

Mrs. Olinger gave three basic steps fr achieving better thinking: (1) feed your mind the same as your body; (2) do so by thinking wholesome thoughts; and (3) pray a great deal.

She ended her talk by saying: "Mind is the great leveler of all things. Human thought is the process by which human ends are ultimately achieved.

Open discussion was then held on "What Emotions Do You Believe Effect Our Thinking."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lee Alderman on Oct. 21.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I would like to ask you a question about so-called social drinking. I am a former widow, middle-aged, married of recent years to a man now in his fifties.

All my life I have seen people drink and never have thought it wrong. Both my parents drank lightly, and in my younger years, during my first marriage, I was surrounded by party drinkers. That is, Saturday night and special occasion drinkers—who might go for a week or weeks without a drink.

My present husband is home for lunch; and seven days a week, year in and year out, he takes one or maybe two very strong cocktails before lunch. These I mix myself to his taste, so I know they are strong—two, or three or four ounces of liquor.

Comes 5 o'clock in the afternoon, it is highball time, wherever he may be. On vacation, on a business trip, at home, the liquor is there (or carried there) for a predinner drink or drinks in generous measure.

In several years, I have seen him "high" perhaps four or five times. He rarely drinks after dinner, and to date there has been no problem. However, I find it difficult to understand this type of drinking. It would seem to me that he is unable to stop—and surely this is a form of alcoholism.

John claims it is purely habit, like smoking. What is your opinion? Do you think such drinking is progressive? I've no desire to create a problem where none exists. But I've seen so much of this type of drinking in our part of the country that I would appreciate your views, so that perhaps I will better understand.

V. R.

DEAR V.R.: As I get the pitch of the alcoholic personality, you might say that he (or she) has a constitution that is wired for trouble, in the event it comes in contact with alcoholic drink. Innately, for some reason or other, this person has a predisposition to become addicted to alcoholism, if social drinking is attempted. In his case, alcohol (in almost any amount) plays havoc with the glandular set-up that should function in the service of self-control.

Your present husband's moderately heavy daily drinking is something else. It suggests that he isn't predisposed to alcoholism; but only that he is, as he says, acquired a habit of drinking. He has cultivated a false appetite, and cordially applies himself to satisfying it. This is known as social drinking, which may, or may not, become a serious hazard.

In James Free's book "Just One More" (Coward-McCann), addressed to problem drinkers, Chapter 17 is devoted to a discussion of safe social drinking. To be on the safe side, every social drinker is advised to practice five precautions, to-wit:

1. Accept the fact that alcoholism is a progressive disease that can overtake anybody who drinks, even you.

2. Firmly decide to take any steps necessary to insure that this illness doesn't overtake you.

3. Embrace a specific policy of absolute moderation, with no exceptions, if you wish to play it safe.

4. Set an absolute limit on the number of drinks you will take on any drinking occasion.

5. Establish certain definite nights each week, when you will not drink at all. Schedule your no-alcohol evenings and stick with the schedule.

If a man habitually drinks thirstily, and refuses to consider the above precautions—for any reason or rationalization—Mr. Free sticks his neck out (as he says) and wagers: Either that man is unaware of the risks. Or he already has an obsessive need of alcohol (ingrained by habit). Or he has already lost control, without being ready to admit it.

And if this wager makes you drinking readers mad, well, you've had it, friends, says Mr. Free. Might as well step to the phone right now and put in your call to Alcoholics Anonymous.

Mr. Free is a worldly man, not a parlor theorist. He is head of his own advertising agency, with offices in seven cities. Also he is an avid avocado farmer in Southern California, an oilman in Texas, a sportsman and author of "Training Your Retriever," and—more recently — a Yale-trained lay therapist and consultant on problems of alcoholism. Read his book, to get an evaluation of your husband's drink pattern.

M.H.

'Potlikker Week' Opens in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Potlikker Week has begun in Alabama. Gov. James E. Folsom, in proclaiming the event, had a meal of potlikker, cornbread and buttermilk to mark the occasion.

In the South potlikker is the pot liquor left from boiling hog's jowl, or a similar meat, and greens.

Jewelry Is Stolen

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Washington woman says a thief entered her room in a downtown hotel here and stole $2,024 worth of jewelry Police said Tuesday Mrs. Gloria Bergman told them the missing items include a $2,000 ring, a $20 wristwatch and $24 in cash.

Curious Prosecutor Learns His Lesson

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County Prosecutor C. Watson Hover had learned to keep his hands out of handcuffs.

The prosecutor, browsing around the property room at the courthouse Tuesday, came upon an old pair of handcuffs once used as evidence in a trial. He decided to try them on. They worked but there was no key.

Finally a deputy prosecutor found a hacksaw and freed the very red-faced prosecutor.

Truck Line Seeking Right To Carry Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — Motor Cargo, Inc., of Akron, Ohio, has asked the national motor freight classification board for a rate classification on U. S. mail. Announcement of the request was made at the 24th annual convention of the American Trucking Assn., where members predicted mail will eventually be carried by trucks rather than by other means of transportation.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

I have seen only a few specimens of the so-called "Tree of Heaven" in Fayette County, but recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Sheley, Devalon Rd., I saw the only one left of some 24 such trees which stood on the premises. The others were cut down recently because they interfered with Dayton Power and Light Co. lines.

The Tree of Heaven (Allanthus glandulosa) much resembles a mimosa tree, except the leaves are larger. It bears ill-scented staminate flowers. It has been naturalized here but came originally from Asia, where it was held in reverence by some of the natives.

The Tree of Heaven spreads rapidly and soon becomes a nuisance, so that usually after those who have obtained a start realize that one tree soon starts dozens of others about it, they usually cut the trees out as a nuisance rather than as something heavenly.

DOG TOWN GROCER

Wendle Bryant is now proprietor of the only store in Plano (Dog Town) on the White Rd., having purchased the business from Fenton Graves who operated it for 18 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have their home back of the store proper, and the building has been used as a general store for the community for more than half a century. At one time it housed the Plano post office.

* * *

SMALLPOX AMONG INDIANS

From folklore handed down through the generations, I have learned that when the Indians were still more or less numerous among the white settlers in the county, smallpox nearly wiped out an Indian village in the vicinity of Jasper Mills or Selden.

The plague was fatal to nearly all of the Indians in the village and, the reports state, they were buried on what is now the A. G. (Boss) Carman farm, on the Bush Rd, within a short distance of Sugar Creek, and northwest of the Bush Cemetery.

The epidemic so bewildered the few Indians they left the community and never came back, except one lone individual who visited the scene years later, then departed for good.

PRAYING MANTIS EGGS

A gooseberry bush in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs John R. Rowland, who live on White Rd. opposite Maple Grove Church, contains two egg sacks of the praying mantis.

These egg containers are about one inch in diameter, 1 ½ inches in length, and resemble a piece of putty attached to the branches of the gooseberry bush.

Each egg sack contains 50 to 150 eggs, which means that next spring when the weather becomes hot that many little praying mantis will hatch out and be ready to shift for themselves—since they never see their parents.

As a matter of fact the female kills and devours her mate immediately after mating.

Since the praying mantis, which usually grow to be some three inches in length and has bristling forelegs folded as if in prayer, feeds on other insects, most of which are harmful to vegetation, the average person never kills it and as a result they are increasing in numbers each year.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

An old brick building torn down to make room for Fayette Theater, was found to have poles for rafters and all timber in it was hewn.

Eleven local unions participated in the WCTU county convention.

The Yanks won the World Series from the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Babe Ruth hit a home run in the final game.

John G. Gregory announced plans for a 1,250-seat theater to be erected on site of Arcade Block, opposite City Building.

Two additional freight trains were placed in operation on Henry Ford's DT&I Railroad, and the time of passenger trains was changed.

Night classes were formed at the YMCA.

Tentative plans made to preserve double covered bridge over the North Fork of Paint Creek west of New Holland. Mrs. Vic Donahey was interested in the project, submitted by County Engineer Frank M. Kennedy.

Harry F. Sinclair's lease on Teapot Dome was cancelled, and the court announced that Albert Fall had been found faithless in office.

William Artels of West Virginia, former giant with Forepaugh Circus, who was nearly seven feet in height, halted here enroute to Greene County to cut corn.

The Dayton Power and Light Co. announced that a second transmission line between Dayton and this city would be built.

Report Shows Gains Against TB Menace

Fayette County's long-term battle against tuberculosis is bearing fruit, according to a report from Ohio State Auditor James A. Rhodes concerning monies spent by the county in hospitalizing its TB patients.

Fayette County commissioners spent $9,111 to provide treatment and the county received credit for $3,807 additional from the state. The county health office reports that as many as five patients from the county were hospitalized at one time during the fiscal year from July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957. During the fiscal year reported, Fayette County patients received a total of 1,888 days of treatment.

For a comparable period during 1950-51, patient days totaled 2,739. The 1956-57 figures is a reduction of 31.1 per cent. Some counties in the state for the 1956-57 year showed increases as high as 548.5 per cent.

* * *

MISS Gretchen Darlington, senior nurse of the Fayette County Health Department, reports that only two patients from the county are currently hospitalized.

"We should not be proud of that figure, however," she said," her there are others who should be undergoing hospitalization, but who refuse to do so."

During the 1956-57 fiscal year, the state spent over $2½ million as its part in providing hospitalization to Ohio's TB patients. The State Legislature appropriated $2.8 million for continuing this work during the current fiscal year. These figures are for state appropriations only and do not include amounts spent by county health agencies.

Lousy Bowman Bags Deer Anyhow

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — He admits he's not a very good shot with bow and arrow, but John Chieglo bagged a deer anyway.

Chieglo, 37, had headed home in disgust after a whole weekend without seeing a deer on his first bow and arrow expedition. Suddenly he screeched to a stop as three deer bolted in front of his car.

A careful aim, an excited draw, then Chieglo's arrow sailed right over the back of the buck, which sprang away. Chieglo didn't cry over the missed target —the arrow struck and killed a doe standing behind the buck. It was the first season doe had been legal in the state.

It's Possible for Ducks To Live to Voting Age, 21

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Be kind to our webfooted friends goes the old roundelay, for a duck may be somebody's mother.

Grandmother, even, if you start looking at this matter of wildlife longevity with a speculative eye. Few people have. As a matter of fact, when you think of all the subjects that have been getting less than their share of attention in the news of the day, animal and avian geriatrics surely rank high on the list.

To get back to cases, a duck in the wild might with foor fortune get to be a grandmother by its third year. This requires good fortune in more ways than one, as any duck which has survived the trip from Horicon Marsh in Wisconsin through Horseshoe Lake to the Delta could tell you.

Nevertheless, wild ducks have survived past the voting age in some cases according to band returns. The returns have little to say on what possibly could befall a 21-year-old duck, whose sinews might be figured stout enough to turn a broadside from the USS Missouri in its most active days, to say nothing of a duck hunter's teeth.

According to an exhaustive review by a couple of Chicago forest preserve district biologists, wild ducks aren't really in contention when it comes to old age.

Compiling zoo records from around the world, David Thompson and Roberts Mann concluded that in general large animals live longer than small ones, birds live longer than mammals and some of the reptiles live longer than anything.

Contrary to the old legends invented by circus press agents, people generally live longer than elephants. The oldest elephant on record was 69. For second place among animals—and this should surprise no watcher of TV westerns—was a 50-year-old horse.

Among amphibians, a toad has lived 36 years, a bull frog 30 years and a mud puppy 23—although why a mud puppy would want is unstated in the record.

A catfish passed away at the age of 60 for top honors among the fish. Among birds, a canary lived to 22, a great horned owl to 68 and a turkey buzzard to 118, which is rather a dismaying commentary on the merits of seeking to attract the good wishes and high regard of your neighbors.

Amidst all this, a spritely note attends the passing of the all-time old-age champion. It was a giant tortoise which dwelt upon the island of Mauritius. This tortoise, at the age of 152, and virtually in its prime, was snatched away by an untimely accident.

While pursuing a lady tortoise, let it fervently be hoped.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The City Council has authorized purchase of a street sweeper with brushes on both sides—thereby taking City Manager John Lilly off the hook.

During the Council's deliberations it was pointed out that the double-brushed sweeper was needed to sweep the left side of one-way streets. All the city's present sweepers have brushes on the right side only.

Councilman Harvey Stull wanted to know how the right-sided sweepers had been sweeping the left side of one-way streets—did they go the wrong way to do it?

"Frankly," said Lilly, "we've just been ignoring one side."

$8½ Million in State Funds To Be Doled Out

COLUMBUS (AP)—More than $8½ million in state funds is being made available to local governments this week.

Auditor James A. Rhodes reported that the figure includes a sales tax distribution of $3,643,328; gasoline tax funds to cities and villages of $3,253,347 and a quarterly distribution of liquor license fees amounting to $1,790,279.

Lawyers' Words Confusing Judge

Lady Dem Says as Weather Grows Brisk, So Does Party

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — "As the weather grows brisker, so do Democrats," says Katie Louchheim, vice chairman and director of women's activities of the Democratic National Committee. Katie herself exemplifies this theory.

After launching the annual observance of Democratic Women's Day, in which top women of the party are honored in special programs across the nation the peripatetic Katie has embarked on a travel schedule that will keep her on the go most of the time.

Currently she is touring the country with Chairman Paul Butler to attend a series of regional conferences with Democratic party leaders. She's sparking interest in Democratic "woman power" to insure success of the annual "Dollars for Democrats" drive. She's also encouraging the organization of "Teen Dem Clubs," as well as expansion of the Young Democrats of America. The YDs, she says, have a new college manual containing suggestions for organizing clubs on campuses and carrying on a program of activities.

Though there is no national organization of Democratic women, and Katie proudly boasts their activities are integrated with those of the men, Democratic women's clubs in many communities are making their influence felt in many important ways.

She cites women's organizational activities, for example, in the New Jersey governor campaign. Under the state vice chairman, Katharine Elkus White, a Democratic women's campaign committee has been formed to develop a point-by-point program of activities in the state's 21 counties. The committee is concerning itself with promotion of voter registration, projects to reach newcomers in suburban areas, and organization of block-by-block drives for small contributions.

Pennsylvania Democrats are putting ads in the personal columns of local newspapers read us to help your party!" Indiana women are holding a "school of politics" in every county.

WILLIAM BENJAMIN FEEMSTER, JR.

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

WILLIAM BENJAMIN FEEMSTER, JR., is being sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder. He is alleged to have shot and killed a Detroit, Mich., man in October, 1955.

In a complaint filed before a U.S. District Judge at Detroit on Dec. 13, 1955, Feemster, as William Phemster, was charged with fleeing from the State of Michigan to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder.

The wanted man's aliases include Leroy Bester, Wilbur T. Chance, James Martin, Johnny Williams, "Speed," etc. He has been convicted for felonious assault, mailing threatening communications, assault and battery, armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

Feemster's occupations include construction laborer, cement finisher, laborer and welder. He reportedly frequents bowling alleys and likes to gamble. He may wear a mustache and walk with a slight limp. He is said to be a heavy drinker and possible user of narcotics, who has previously resisted arrest and is said to become violent when drinking. He reportedly carries a gun at all times and has said he would kill anybody getting in his way.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

I have seen only a few specimens of the so-called "Tree of Heaven" in Fayette County, but recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Sheley, Devalon Rd., I saw the only one left of some 24 such trees which stood on the premises. The others were cut down recently because they interfered with Dayton Power and Light Co. lines.

The Tree of Heaven (Ailanthus glandulosa) much resembles a mimosa tree, except the leaves are larger. It bears ill-scented staminate flowers. It has been naturalized here but came originally from Asia, where it was held in reverence by some of the natives.

The Tree of Heaven spreads rapidly and soon becomes a nuisance, so that usually after those who have obtained a start realize that one tree soon starts dozens of others about it, they usually cut the trees out as a nuisance rather than as something heavenly.

DOG TOWN GROCER

Wendle Bryant is now proprietor of the only store in Plano (Dog Town) on the White Rd., having purchased the business from Fenton Graves who operated it for 18 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have their home back of the store proper, and the building has been used as a general store for the community for more than half a century. At one time it housed the Plano post office.

* * *

SMALLPOX AMONG INDIANS

From folklore handed down through the generations, I have learned that when the Indians were still more or less numerous among the white settlers in the county, smallpox nearly wiped out an Indian village in the vicinity of Jasper Mills or Selden.

The plague was fatal to nearly all of the Indians in the village and, the reports state, they were buried on what is now the A. G. (Boss) Carman farm, on the Bush Rd, within a short distance of Sugar Creek, and northwest of the Bush Cemetery.

The epidemic so bewildered the few Indians they left the community and never came back, except one lone individual who visited the scene years later, then departed for good.

* * *

PRAYING MANTIS EGGS

A gooseberry bush in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs John R. Rowland, who live on White Rd. opposite Maple Grove Church, contains two egg sacks of the praying mantis.

These egg containers are about one inch in diameter, 1 ½ inches in length, and resemble a piece of putty attached to the branches of the gooseberry bush.

Each egg sack contains 50 to 150 eggs, which means that next spring when the weather becomes hot that many little praying mantis will hatch out and be ready to shift for themselves—since they never see their parents.

As a matter of fact the female kills and devours her mate immediately after mating.

Since the praying mantis, which usually grow to be some three inches in length and has bristling forelegs folded as if in prayer, feeds on other insects, most of which are harmful to vegetation, the average person never kills it and as a result they are increasing in numbers each year.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

An old brick building torn down to make room for Fayette Theater, was found to have poles for rafters and all timber in it was hewn.

Eleven local unions participated in the WCTU county convention.

The Yanks won the World Series from the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Babe Ruth hit a home run in the final game.

John G. Gregory announced plans for a 1,250-seat theater to be erected on site of Arcade Block, opposite City Building.

Two additional freight trains were placed in operation on Henry Ford's DT&I Railroad, and the time of passenger trains was changed.

Night classes were formed at the YMCA.

Tentative plans made to preserve double covered bridge over the North Fork of Paint Creek west of New Holland. Mrs. Vic Donahey was interested in the project, submitted by County Engineer Frank M. Kennedy.

Harry F. Sinclair's lease on Teapot Dome was cancelled, and the court announced that Albert Fall had been found faithless in office.

William Artels of West Virginia, former giant with Forepaugh Circus, who was nearly seven feet in height, halted here enroute to Greene County to cut corn.

The Dayton Power and Light Co. announced that a second transmission line between Dayton and this city would be built.

Report Shows Gains Against TB Menace

Fayette County's long-term battle against tuberculosis is bearing fruit, according to a report from Ohio State Auditor James A. Rhodes concerning monies spent by the county in hospitalizing its TB patients.

Fayette County commissioners spent $9,111 to provide treatment and the county received credit for $3,807 additional from the state. The county health office reports that as many as five patients from the county were hospitalized at one time during the fiscal year from July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957. During the fiscal year reported, Fayette County patients received a total of 1,888 days of treatment.

For a comparable period during 1950-51, patient days totaled 2,739. The 1956-57 figures is a reduction of 31.1 per cent. Some counties in the state for the 1956-57 year showed increases as high as 548.5 per cent.

* * *

MISS Gretchen Darlington, senior nurse of the Fayette County Health Department, reports that only two patients from the county are currently hospitalized.

"We should not be proud of that figure, however," she said," her there are others who should be undergoing hospitalization, but who refuse to do so."

During the 1956-57 fiscal year, the state spent over $2½ million as its part in providing hospitalization to Ohio's TB patients. The State Legislature appropriated $2.8 million for continuing this work during the current fiscal year. These figures are for state appropriations only and do not include amounts spent by county health agencies.

Lousy Bowman Bags Deer Anyhow

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — He admits he's not a very good shot with bow and arrow, but John Chieglo bagged a deer anyway.

Chieglo, 37, had headed home in disgust after a whole weekend without seeing a deer on his first bow and arrow expedition. Suddenly he screeched to a stop as three deer bolted in front of his car.

A careful aim, an excited draw, then Chieglo's arrow sailed right over the back of the buck, which sprang away. Chieglo didn't cry over the missed target —the arrow struck and killed a doe standing behind the buck. It was the first season doe had been legal in the state.

It's Possible for Ducks To Live to Voting Age, 21

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Be kind to our webfooted friends goes the old roundelay, for a duck may be somebody's mother.

Grandmother, even, if you start looking at this matter of wildlife longevity with a speculative eye. Few people have. As a matter of fact, when you think of all the subjects that have been getting less than their share of attention in the news of the day, animal and avian geriatrics surely rank high on the list.

To get back to cases, a duck in the wild might with foor fortune get to be a grandmother by its third year. This requires good fortune in more ways than one, as any duck which has survived the trip from Horicon Marsh in Wisconsin through Horseshoe Lake to the Delta could tell you.

Nevertheless, wild ducks have survived past the voting age in some cases according to band returns. The returns have little to say on what possibly could befall a 21-year-old duck, whose sinews might be figured stout enough to turn a broadside from the USS Missouri in its most active days, to say nothing of a duck hunter's teeth.

According to an exhaustive review by a couple of Chicago forest preserve district biologists, wild ducks aren't really in contention when it comes to old age.

Compiling zoo records from around the world, David Thompson and Roberts Mann concluded that in general large animals live longer than small ones, birds live longer than mammals and some of the reptiles live longer than anything.

Contrary to the old legends invented by circus press agents, people generally live longer than elephants. The oldest elephant on record was 69. For second place among animals—and this should surprise no watcher of TV westerns—was a 50-year-old horse.

Among amphibians, a toad has lived 36 years, a bull frog 30 years and a mud puppy 23—although why a mud puppy would want is unstated in the record.

A catfish passed away at the age of 60 for top honors among the fish. Among birds, a canary lived to 22, a great horned owl to 68 and a turkey buzzard to 118, which is rather a dismaying commentary on the merits of seeking to attract the good wishes and high regard of your neighbors.

Amidst all this, a spritely note attends the passing of the all-time old-age champion. It was a giant tortoise which dwelt upon the island of Mauritius. This tortoise, at the age of 152, and virtually in its prime, was snatched away by an untimely accident.

While pursuing a lady tortoise, let it fervently be hoped.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—The City Council has authorized purchase of a street sweeper with brushes on both sides—thereby taking City Manager John Lilly off the hook.

During the Council's deliberations it was pointed out that the double-brushed sweeper was needed to sweep the left side of one-way streets. All the city's present sweepers have brushes on the right side only.

Councilman Harvey Stull wanted to know how the right-sided sweepers had been sweeping the left side of one-way streets—did they go the wrong way to do it?

"Frankly," said Lilly, "we've just been ignoring one side."

$8½ Million in State Funds To Be Doled Out

COLUMBUS (AP)—More than $8½ million in state funds is being made available to local governments this week.

Auditor James A. Rhodes reported that the figure includes a sales tax distribution of $3,643,328; gasoline tax funds to cities and villages of $3,253,347 and a quarterly distribution of liquor license fees amounting to $1,790,279.

Youth Club Activities

CHERRY HILL BLUE BIRDS

The Cherry Hill Second Grade Blue Bird group held its first meeting at the school with 14 girls attending.

Business included discussion of a name for the group which will be chosen at the next meeting. Membership cards were sent home with each girl.

An outdoor game was played and treats were served by Connie Fenton.

Girls present were Judy Campbell, Kathy Climer, Connie Fenton, Karen Sue Gilmore, Shirley Haynes, Dianne Henk, Karen Kaufman, Linda Lynch, Marilyn Lynch, Linda Merritt, Karen Prenatt, Sandy Rohde, Linda Sowers, and Linda Vagner, The leaders are Mrs. Harold W. Fenton and Mrs. Walter Henk.

Lawyers' Words Confusing Judge

DENVER (AP)—The chief justice of Colorado's Supreme Court says lawyers ought to use simpler words and shorter sentences.

"I've got to use a dictionary in reading some of your legal briefs," Chief Justice O. Otto Moore told the Denver Bar Assn. "And too much of that becomes embarrassing."

Zanesville, Ohio, is headquarters for America's largest manufacturer of ceramic tile, The Mosaic Tile Co. This is also the largest industry in the city.

Lady Dem Says as Weather Grows Brisk, So Does Party

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — "As the weather grows brisker, so do Democrats," says Katie Louchheim, vice chairman and director of women's activities of the Democratic National Committee. Katie herself exemplifies this theory.

After launching the annual observance of Democratic Women's Day, in which top women of the party are honored in special programs across the nation the peripatetic Katie has embarked on a travel schedule that will keep her on the go most of the time.

Currently she is touring the country with Chairman Paul Butler to attend a series of regional conferences with Democratic party leaders. She's sparking interest in Democratic "woman power" to insure success of the annual "Dollars for Democrats" drive. She's also encouraging the organization of "Teen Dem Clubs," as well as expansion of the Young Democrats of America. The YDs, she says, have a new college manual containing suggestions for organizing clubs on campuses and carrying on a program of activities.

Though there is no national organization of Democratic women, and Katie proudly boasts their activities are integrated with those of the men, Democratic women's clubs in many communities are making their influence felt in many important ways.

She cites women's organizational activities, for example, in the New Jersey governor campaign. Under the state vice chairman, Katharine Elkus White, a Democratic women's campaign committee has been formed to develop a point-by-point program of activities in the state's 21 counties. The committee is concerning itself with promotion of voter registration, projects to reach newcomers in suburban areas, and organization of block-by-block drives for small contributions.

Pennsylvania Democrats are putting ads in the personal columns of local newspapers read-us to help your party!" Indiana women are holding a "school of politics" in every county.

WILLIAM BENJAMIN FEEMSTER, JR.

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

WILLIAM BENJAMIN FEEMSTER, JR., is being sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder. He is alleged to have shot and killed a Detroit, Mich., man in October, 1955.

In a complaint filed before a U.S. District Judge at Detroit on Dec. 13, 1955, Feemster, as William Phemster, was charged with fleeing from the State of Michigan to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder.

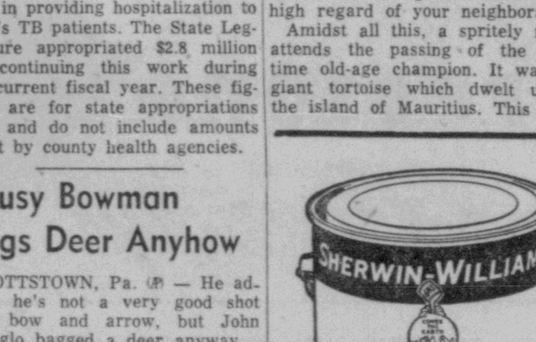

The wanted man's aliases include Leroy Bester, Wilbur T. Chance, James Martin, Johnny Williams, "Speed," etc. He has been convicted for felonious assault, mailing threatening communications, assault and battery, armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

Feemster's occupations include construction laborer, cement finisher, laborer and welder. He reportedly frequents bowling alleys and likes to gamble. He may wear a mustache and walk with a slight limp. He is said to be a heavy drinker and possible user of narcotics, who has previously resisted arrest and is said to become violent when drinking. He reportedly carries a gun at all times and has said he would kill anybody getting in his way.

Class, Club Activities in Full Swing at Bloomingburg School

By ANNE CRAIG

Now that baseball has stopped, students at Bloomingburg have settled down somewhat to serious studying. Boys wanting to play basketball have started practicing for the first game with Simon Kenton on Nov. 1. Coach Everett Rudolph believes Bloomingburg have a pretty fair basketball squad this year.

You don't have a basketball team without cheerleaders, and the high school students have selected six girls for that honor. They are Nancy Owens, Cindy Schlichter, Glenna Watkins, Esther Johnson, Harriett Hiles, and Lorraine Smith. The junior high students have also voted on their cheerleaders, who are Ann Evans, Patty Redden, Penny Noble and Alice Craig.

* * *

LAST FRIDAY the freshmen and sophomore girls were initiated into the Y-Teen club. Officers for the coming year are president, Beverly Evans, program chairman, Nancy Owens; vice president, Glenna Watkins, secretary, Gloria Cleland, Treasurer, Cindy Schlichter; song leader, Nancy Nessell. Under their direction and that of the other girls in the junior and senior classes, the under classmen were really put through the test. (I know!) Wearing red make - up all over their faces, their skirts upside down and their hair braided in 15 pigtails, they bowed all day to their superiors.

At noon they entertained the boys with a chorus line, washed the blackboards, and picked up pieces of paper on the playground. As the final bell sounded ending their day of initiation, most of the girls agreed it was a lot of fun but they wouldn't want to do it over again!

EACH CLASS from the eighth through the 12th grade has chosen its class officers.

The eighth grade officers are president, Gary Brown; vice president. Mike McCoy; secretary, Lynn Welsh and treasurer, Alice Craig.

The officers chosen by the freshmen are president, Sandra Evans; vice president, Jon Schlichter; secretary, Judy Allison, and treasurer, Larry Huff.

The sophomore officers are: president, Janice Owens; vice president, Anne Craig; secretary; Mike Evans, and treasurer, Kay Heistand. President Jim Hidy, vice president, Buddy Snyder, Secretary, Gloria Cleland, and Treasurer Jack Elliott make up the junior officers. The senior officers are: president, Beverly Evans, vice president, Patti Weaver; secretary, Glenna Watkins, and treasurer, Nancy Owens.

Business Women's Group Realizes 28-Year-Old Dream

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women trekking here from all parts of the country for the dedication of their new headuarters saw in it a handsome realization of a 28-year-old dream.

The organization, which boasts some 171,000 members in 3,300 clubs in this country, Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia, moved its national offices here last year after 18 years in New York.

The new quarters, an elegant private residence on Massachusetts Ave. converted at a cost of about $250,000, was opened with the proper fanfare. President Hazel Palmer, Sedalia, Mo., attorney, cut the green and gold ribbon. Participating in the program were Secretary of Labor James Mitchell and Philip Talbott, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Palmer's office has white walls, a pale aqua rug and a beautiful marble fireplace. Miss Rose Leibrand, executive director, also from Sedalia, has a white and gold office.

"It's been our dream since 1929 to have our quarters in the capital," said Miss Leibrand. "It began with a $29,000 fund at our biennial convention at Mackinac, Mich. In 1952 a committee was appointed by Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, Tex., then president, and in 1954 we started our fund drive, 'Two Bucks for Bricks,' with every member contributing."

Miss Leibrand says some 500 different occupations are represented in the federation membership. They range from sea shell sellers, gravemarkers and farmers to presidents of industries, judges and members of Congress.

Forty-one per cent own their own businesses. Miss Leibrand herself combines four categories. She's a real estate broker, an insurance broker, owner of a gift shop and publisher of a weekly newspaper. She served four years active duty and nine years in the reserves of the Army and Air Force.

Federation members have been engaged in civic activity programs in all areas of the country and have worked ceaselessly for legislation affecting women. They are active in a campaign to open jury service for women, now granted in all except three states, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. They worked with the Department of Labor to secure equal pay for equal work and hope to continue their fight for passage of a constitutional amendment providing equal legal rights for women when Congress reconvenes in January.

Here Are More News Briefs From Midwest Grid Camps

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Michigan — Instead of getting the usual post - Saturday easy workout, the Wolverines went through signal drilling and defense tactics to groom for the upcoming clash with No. 2 rated Michigan State. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan ordered a crisp signal drill to prepare Michigan's passing game for the Spartans.

Wisconsin—Wisconsin's Badgers skipped contact work and went through a long defensive dummy scrimmage. The drills concentrated on maneuvers to halt an attack launched by Purdue in next Saturday's game.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes had the Buckeyes concentrating on aerial defense in preparation for Saturday's game with Illinois. The Buckeyes have encountered only 11 enemy passes this season, while the Illinis have thrown 40 in two games thus far.

Illinois—In recognition of his fine work against Colgate, sophomore Bill Burrell, 205 - pounder from Chebanse, Ill., was advanced to No. 1 left guard. The Illini are expected to be in top shape for the game with Ohio State at Columbus, a top annual to-do.

Northwestern—Coach Ara Parseghian had the Wildcats working on defense—"our major problem"—in preparation for Minnesota. He expressed satisfaction with offensive play.

Michigan State—The Spartans spent an afternoon studying scouting reports of Michigan's 26-0 defeat of Georgia and decided the Wolverines were playing with the wraps on. MSU will work on some of its own surprise stuff for the Saturday encounter.

Purdue — A knee injury has knocked a promising 218-pound guard, sophomore Emory Turner, from the lineup for the season, and there is some doubt that regulars Erich Barnes, end, and tackle Wayne Farmer will be in shape for Saturday's game with Wisconsin.

Indiana—In an attempt to get speed where it is most needed, Indiana coach Bob Hicks shifted quarterback Tom Kendrick to tailback and tailback Ted Smith to wingback. Kendrick is tabbed as a good runner and passer.

Notre Dame—The Irish report only one regular on the injury list from last Saturday's 26-0 clobbering of Indiana. He is Chuck Puntillo. The Irish went through light line scrimmage and brushed up on offensive assignments in drills readying them for Saturday's big game with Army.

Marquette — Marquette's Warriors stayed indoors and reviewed movies of their 20-6 loss to Tulane. Three minor injuries were reported but all are expected to be in shape for Saturday's game with Holy Cross. The injured were halfback Lou Casto, quarterback Ernie Safran and end Jim Stracka.

Minnesota—A shakeup on the Minnesota squad puts quarterback Bobby Cox in the ace spot on the Gopher first string. Cox was out of the limelight in Minnesota's 21-17 victory over Purdue due to the running and passing of Dick Larson. But coach Murray Warmath had Cox on the No. 1 Gopher backfield in a shift partly caused by injuries.

Iowa—A light workout in sweatsuits was all that Iowa's flu-stricken Hawkeyes went through on the first day of training after squeaking past Washington State 20-13. Twenty-seven Hawks were stricken by the flu and in a weakened condition for the West Coast game. The latest victim, No. 1 left guard Frank Bloomquist, was sent to the hospital.

At noon they entertained the boys with a chorus line, washed the blackboards, and picked up pieces of paper on the playground. As the final bell sounded ending their day of initiation, most of the girls agreed it was a lot of fun but they wouldn't want to do it over again!

Business Women's Group Realizes 28-Year-Old Dream

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women trekking here from all parts of the country for the dedication of their new headquarters saw in it a handsome realization of a 28-year-old dream.

The organization, which boasts some 171,000 members in 3,300 clubs in this country, Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia, moved its national offices here last year after 18 years in New York.

The new quarters, an elegant private residence on Massachusetts Ave. converted at a cost of about $250,000, was opened with the proper fanfare. President Hazel Palmer, Sedalia, Mo., attorney, cut the green and gold ribbon. Participating in the program were Secretary of Labor James Mitchell and Philip Talbott, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Palmer's office has white walls, a pale aqua rug and a beautiful marble fireplace. Miss Rose Leibrand, executive director, also from Sedalia, has a white and gold office.

"It's been our dream since 1929 to have our quarters in the capital," said Miss Leibrand. "It began with a $29,000 fund at our biennial convention at Mackinac, Mich. In 1952 a committee was appointed by Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, Tex., then president, and in 1954 we started our fund drive, 'Two Bucks for Bricks,' with every member contributing."

Miss Leibrand says some 500 different occupations are represented in the federation membership. They range from sea shell sellers, gravemarkers and farmers to presidents of industries, judges and members of Congress.

Forty-one per cent own their own businesses. Miss Leibrand herself combines four categories. She's a real estate broker, an insurance broker, owner of a gift shop and publisher of a weekly newspaper. She served four years active duty and nine years in the reserves of the Army and Air Force.

Federation members have been engaged in civic activity programs in all areas of the country and have worked ceaselessly for legislation affecting women. They are active in a campaign to open jury service for women, now granted in all except three states, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. They worked with the Department of Labor to secure equal pay for equal work and hope to continue their fight for passage of a constitutional amendment providing equal legal rights for women when Congress reconvenes in January.

Here Are More News Briefs From Midwest Grid Camps

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Michigan — Instead of getting the usual post - Saturday easy workout, the Wolverines went through signal drilling and defense tactics to groom for the upcoming clash with No. 2 rated Michigan State. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan ordered a crisp signal drill to prepare Michigan's passing game for the Spartans.

Wisconsin—Wisconsin's Badgers skipped contact work and went through a long defensive dummy scrimmage. The drills concentrated on maneuvers to halt an attack launched by Purdue in next Saturday's game.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes had the Buckeyes concentrating on aerial defense in preparation for Saturday's game with Illinois. The Buckeyes have encountered only 11 enemy passes this season, while the Illinis have thrown 40 in two games thus far.

Illinois—In recognition of his fine work against Colgate, sophomore Bill Burrell, 205 - pounder from Chebanse, Ill., was advanced to No. 1 left guard. The Illini are expected to be in top shape for the game with Ohio State at Columbus, a top annual to-do.

Northwestern—Coach Ara Parseghian had the Wildcats working on defense—"our major problem"—in preparation for Minnesota. He expressed satisfaction with offensive play.

Michigan State—The Spartans spent an afternoon studying scouting reports of Michigan's 26-0 defeat of Georgia and decided the Wolverines were playing with the wraps on. MSU will work on some of its own surprise stuff for the Saturday encounter.

Purdue — A knee injury has knocked a promising 218-pound guard, sophomore Emory Turner, from the lineup for the season, and there is some doubt that regulars Erich Barnes, end, and tackle Wayne Farmer will be in shape for Saturday's game with Wisconsin.

Indiana—In an attempt to get speed where it is most needed, Indiana coach Bob Hicks shifted quarterback Tom Kendrick to tailback and tailback Ted Smith to wingback. Kendrick is tabbed as a good runner and passer.

Notre Dame—The Irish report only one regular on the injury list from last Saturday's 26-0 clobbering of Indiana. He is Chuck Puntillo. The Irish went through light line scrimmage and brushed up on offensive assignments in drills readying them for Saturday's big game with Army.

Marquette — Marquette's Warriors stayed indoors and reviewed movies of their 20-6 loss to Tulane. Three minor injuries were reported but all are expected to be in shape for Saturday's game with Holy Cross. The injured were halfback Lou Casto, quarterback Ernie Safran and end Jim Stracka.

Minnesota—A shakeup on the Minnesota squad puts quarterback Bobby Cox in the ace spot on the Gopher first string. Cox was out of the limelight in Minnesota's 21-17 victory over Purdue due to the running and passing of Dick Larson. But coach Murray Warmath had Cox on the No. 1 Gopher backfield in a shift partly caused by injuries.

Iowa—A light workout in sweatsuits was all that Iowa's flu-stricken Hawkeyes went through on the first day of training after squeaking past Washington State 20-13. Twenty-seven Hawks were stricken by the flu and in a weakened condition for the West Coast game. The latest victim, No. 1 left guard Frank Bloomquist, was sent to the hospital.

Post Office Employes Get Asian Flu Vaccine

YOUR MAIL WILL COME THROUGH this winter. Thirty-two pos tal employees received their Asian flu vaccine Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the post office building. Dr. Joseph M. Herbert ad ministered the shots. Here Vallie Downard, custodian, gets his. (Record-Herald photo)

Thirty-two of the 35 eligible Washington C. H. Post Office employes received their first shots of the Asian flu vaccine Tuesday afternoon. The other three will receive their shots this week to give the post office the only 100 per cent vaccinated organization in the county.

Yes, you will get your mail this winter, come even Asian flu.

Vaccine for the shots was paid for by the employee's organization fund to which each employee subscribes.

Dr. Joseph M. Herbert administered the shots. He recommended that the men not take a full shot, but rather suggested that they take only a partial shot this first time and return in about 10 days for the remainder of their vaccine.

$200 Million Seen Coming To Improve U. S. Route 21

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio and West Virginia were reported today to have a good chance of getting close to 200 million dollars in extra federal money for a stretch of new superhighway.

This is the road—an extension of U.S. 21—for which Govs. C. William O'Neill of Ohio and Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia made a special plea in Washington Monday.

U.S. 21 now goes south in Ohio from Cleveland to Canton. O'Neill and Underwood want to continue the road from Canton south past Dover to Marietta, then on to Charleston, W. Va.

That is a distance of about 190 miles.

With the federal contribution on road building running at 90 per cent of the cost or conservatively about one million dollars a mile in that area, a federal outlay close to 200 million would be involved.

What would make Ohio and West Virginia success a special plum is the fact that the administration has only 1,000 miles of new highway left in its grant roads program. Roads Bureau Director Bertram Tallamy and Secretary of Commerce Weeks must pick this 1,000 miles from applications around the country totaling 13,000 miles.

O'Neill and Underwood argued to Tallamy that federal aid was needed for U.S. 21 to aid in industrial expansion and for defense.

At the Bureau of Roads, a spokesman said newly tabulated figures show that Ohio's progress on building its share of the new interstate system of roads looks "excellent" so far.

"Ohio has obligated all of its allotted funds for its interstate roads for 1957," the spokesman said. "In all, 31 states have done that."

As of Sept. 30, he said, 19 road projects totaling nearly 65 miles of interstate highways had been started at a total cost of $75,200,365. Of that amount, the federal contribution is $65,249,063.

Total mileage of interstate highways either advertised for bids or actually under construction in Ohio, he said, is in the neighborhood of 116 miles.

That will cost $132,095,311, of which the federal share is $116,321,674.

Total interstate highway distance now planned for Ohio is about 1,353 miles.

Ohio Valley Improvement Fund Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal funds for Ohio River navigation, flood control and water supply are essential to keep the Ohio River Valley industrial boom going, the Budget Bureau has been advised.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Assn. has presented arguments in a statement to Budget Director Percival Brundage to support new federal spending of about 120 million dollars, adding:

"The obsolete navigation system of the Ohio River threatens to stifle the huge industrial growth now under way in the Ohio Valley."

The association recommended that Congress be asked for funds as follows:

Continued construction on five replacement structures in the Ohio River — New Cumberland locks and dam, $10,700,000; Greenup locks and dam in Huntington, W. Va., area, $11 million; Markland locks and dam below Cincinnati, $12,600,000; locks and Dam 41 at Louisville, $7,900,000; New Richmond locks and dam above Cincinnati, $5 million.

Advance engineering and design of four additional Ohio River replacement structures—Neville Island in Wheeling -Steubenville area, $250,000; replacement of Lock and Dam 48 in Evansville, Ind., area, $150,000; Belleville lock and dam in Parkersburg - Marietta area, $125,000; Oppossum Creek locks and dam, downstream from Pike Island, $100,000.

Construction and advance planning on Ohio tributaries—Monongahela River; Hildebrand locks and dams, $2,700,000; Dam 8, $2,300,000; Maxwell locks and dam, $1,300,000; Opekinska lock and dam (advance engineering) $125,000. Cumberland River: Cheatham locks and dam, $959,000; Barkley lock and dam, $11 million.

The association recommended new spending of $46,229,000 on continued construction at the following flood control projects: Bradford, Pa.; Catlettsburg, Ky.; Vincinnes, Ind.; Buckhorn and Rough River reservoirs, Ky.; Dillon Reservoir, Ohio; Mansfield Reservoir, Ind.; Sutton Reservoir, W. Va.; Allegheny River Reservoir, Pa. and N. Y.; Roseville, Ohio; Lake City, Tenn.; and Muskingum River reservoirs, Ohio.

Also recommended:

4½ million to start construction of Nolin Reservoir, Ky.; Summerville Reservoir, W. Va.; and Mason J. Niblack Levee, Ind.

$615,000 for advance engineering and design at Levee Unit 1, Wabash River, Ind.; No. 2, Barren River Reservoir, Ky.; No. 2 Green River Reservoir, Ky.; Pound Reservoir, Va.; Shenango River Reservoir, Pa. and Ohio; Fishtrap Reservoir, Ky.; Ridgway, Pa.; St. Marys, Pa. and West Point, Ky.

Also recommended, subject to authorization, was $585,000 at Brockville, Pa.; East Rainelle, W. Va.; Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.; Monroe Reservoir, Ind.; Princeton, W. Va.; Salamonie Reservoir, Ind.; Wasgington, Pa.; West Branch, Mahoning Reservoir, Ohio and Williamson, W. Va.; and $70,000 for essential bank stabilization work at Gallipolis, Ohio.

All Baskets Look Alike to Trashman

FREMONT (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binkley, getting ready for a trip, left a basket containing groceries, clothing and a purse on the sidewalk near their car for a few minutes—just at the time the trash collection crew was going by.

The city ordered replacements for the groceries. The purse and clothing were recovered from the trash collection.

$3 Billion Fund Being Used To Prop Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that it had nearly $3 billion available for carrying out price support programs on 1957 crops and dairy products.

This amount compares with $2.9 billion used for supporting 1956 farm production and $3½ billion in 1955.

Officials said they believed the amount available would be ample. They noted that the rates at which most crops will be supported are lower than last year. In addition, some of the crops are smaller than last year, holding the promise that less will be stored under the price suuport programs.

Meanwhile, the department reported that it had $7,276,535,000 invested in farm surpluses as of Aug. 1 compared with $8,130,919,000 a year earlier.

This investment included $2,183,000,000 in surplus corn, $2,291,000,000 in surplus wheat, $1,426,000, in surplus cotton, $570 million in surplus tobacco, $105 million in surplus grain sorghums and $182 million in surplus dairy products.

The department also reported that its losses in carrying out price programs totaled $66 million in July. This was below the 1956-57 fiscal year monthly average of $120 million.

Losses are incurred when the department sells surpluses for less than it paid for them under price support operations.

Over Ton of Toast Left in Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP)—What's the result when a delivery truck overturns and spills 2,000 loaves of bread that catch fire from spilled gasoline?

Burnt toast, more than a ton of it, which caused a miles-long traffic jam on the Santa Ana Freeway. Police said the truck upset when driver Fred Swihart slammed on the brakes to avoid a collision. He was unhurt.

$3 Billion Fund Being Used To Prop Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that it had nearly $3 billion available for carrying out price support programs on 1957 crops and dairy products.

This amount compares with $2.9 billion used for supporting 1956 farm production and $3½ billion in 1955.

Officials said they believed the amount available would be ample. They noted that the rates at which most crops will be supported are lower than last year. In addition, some of the crops are smaller than last year, holding the promise that less will be stored under the price suuport programs.

Meanwhile, the department reported that it had $7,276,535,000 invested in farm surpluses as of Aug. 1 compared with $8,130,919,000 a year earlier.

This investment included $2,183,000,000 in surplus corn, $2,291,000,000 in surplus wheat, $1,426,000, in surplus cotton, $570 million in surplus tobacco, $105 million in surplus grain sorghums and $182 million in surplus dairy products.

The department also reported that its losses in carrying out price programs totaled $66 million in July. This was below the 1956-57 fiscal year monthly average of $120 million.

Losses are incurred when the department sells surpluses for less than it paid for them under price support operations.

Over Ton of Toast Left in Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP)—What's the result when a delivery truck overturns and spills 2,000 loaves of bread that catch fire from spilled gasoline?

Burnt toast, more than a ton of it, which caused a miles-long traffic jam on the Santa Ana Freeway. Police said the truck upset when driver Fred Swihart slammed on the brakes to avoid a collision. He was unhurt.

All Baskets Look Alike to Trashman

FREMONT (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binkley, getting ready for a trip, left a basket containing groceries, clothing and a purse on the sidewalk near their car for a few minutes—just at the time the trash collection crew was going by.

The city ordered replacements for the groceries. The purse and clothing were recovered from the trash collection.

He Restores Faith Inside Prison Walls

Chaplain Thomas E. Pollard talks to a prisoner in his office.

By DON LOWRY
Central Press Assn.

JACKSON, Mich. — The Rev. Thomas E. Pollard has a unique method of bringing his congregation the message of his church. He also has a unique challenge which he offers to members of other congregations.

Chaplain Pollard's congregation is made up of members of the Protestant faith inside the walls of the world's largest prison. To the prisoners of Jackson's Southern Michigan prison he brings more than spiritual guidance.

He brings a practical hand of the friendship and acceptance from members of free society church congregations.

He doesn't feel the task of bringing men back into the church should remain entirely in the hands of a prison chaplain. Instead, he insists, it is a matter for church member participation within the corrections programs laid down by the state.

* * *

HE SAYS, "Prepare prisoners while they still are behind prison walls for a Christian life by having members of free society congregations participate in our prison programs. Don't leave the entire job to prison chaplains and penologists.

"If church members will exercise this citizen participation their local 'bad boys' will return to the church back home instead of the street corners. When this identification is created in the prison setting it will stimulate returning prisoners to socially acceptable behavior. Wait 'til they get home to find they will be accepted and prison culture will have instilled feelings of rejection and fears of rebuff in them."

The veteran 8th Army Air Force chaplain says, "If you approach a man as a human being — even inside prison walls— you will find a human and a Christian response."

* * *

CHAPLAIN POLLARD learned this philosophy as a youth in northern Michigan's lumbering towns at the turn of the century. He played on a street with seven sawmills and 14 saloons and watched the antics of the rough-and-ready lumberjacks and railroaders.

His father taught him that good was to be found in these same men and that they were the ones who were developing the country. Tom Pollard never forgot that lesson.

He still can see good in every one of the 6,000 convicts who are among his walled-in congregation today.

The prison chaplain says the problems revolving around prisons and prisoners can be solved best when seen as total community problems.

* * *

HE BRINGS church members from neighboring communities into his prison church, Sunday school and Bible class activities. From these citizen participants, prisoners accept faith and community friendship.

Citizens come to agree with Chaplain Pollard, "There is some good in every man."

The prison chaplain thinks a boy or a man is as much out of place in a prison cell as he is in the cockpit of a jet fighter. "Sometimes," says Chaplain Pollard, "it is necessary and warranted. It never is natural."

Saturday Prayers Urged by Churches

COLUMBUS (AP)—A call for a day of prayer Saturday by the Churches of Little Rock, Ark., has drawn praise from the assembly of the Ohio Council of Churches and a suggestion that Ohio churches do likewise.

The assembly at a meeting here adopted this resolution:

"We urge that the churches of Ohio be open for special prayer, Oct. 12, or a day acceptable to the local church; that a minute of silent prayer be observed in a morning worship service. We recommend that all citizens of Ohio seek the will of God as the father of us all — with special attention to peaceful and law-abiding efforts to achieve in our land equality and brotherhood."

Before and After in Little Rock

Gov. Orval Faubus Proves To Be an Amazing Riddle

Editor's Note: Following is the third of five articles by a Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter giving his views of the development of the school integration squabble in Little Rock, Ark.

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two months ago, the name of the governor of Arkansas, Orval Eugene Faubus, was hardly known outside the state.

Today, Faubus is assured for all time of a place in American history.

He may be regarded now with admiration or contempt, as a statesman or an opportunist politician, as a man who did the right thing in the right way, or the wrong thing in the worst way.

For Faubus stands in the center of the events that have dramatized the integration struggle. From them have arisen a hard dilemma and a painful choice for millions of people — Negro children in the schools or the possibility of federal troops in the streets, whether to try to preserve a well-loved way of life or to respect the law as it now stands.

Faubus, by precipitating the showdown between the federal government and the states, seems to have boosted his own political stock immensely in Arkansas.

His mail indicates it. So do letters to newspapers around the state, and the soundings taken by reporters.

He probably has alienated the entire Negro vote, estimated at 60,000. The moderates in Arkansas are outspokenly critical of him. And the people who don't want integration but do want law and order and prestige for the state are against him.

On balance, however, his position looks very strong today, possibly stronger than before the incredible events of September. The consensus is that if he runs for a third term, he will be elected.

Personally, Faubus is a rather engaging man. He has a mild, easy-going way about him. He comes into a conference room with a smile, his "press conference smile," as the Little Rock reporters say.

A few reporters, with calculated rudeness, sometimes try to needle Faubus. His benign mildness, in reply, is devastating. Nothing seems to ruffle him. He is a shrewd pleader.

For example, he describes U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota—the man who ordered Faubus to stop interfering with the integration of Central High School — as an "imported judge." That evokes the picture, held by many Southerners, of the rich and powerful North "cramming integration down our throats."

But he overlooks the point that U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller —the man who first approved the Little Rock school board's plan for integration—is a native Arkansan.

He has accused the FBI of tapping his telephones, and holding high school girls incommunicado during hours of questioning. When denied both charges, Faubus said Hoover used "lawyer's language," FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover denied both charges, Faubus said Hoover used "lawyer's language," and did not, in fact, deny them at all.

He says he will not have "my people bludgeoned and bayonetted." But he will not say whether he will guarantee the safety of Negro students at Central High if federal troops leave Little Rock.

These and other aspects of the astonishing Little Rock story grew out of the train of events set in motion by Faubus the night of Sept. 2.

On that night, he ordered the Arkansas National Guard to encircle Central High School and to turn away Negro children when they came there to enroll the next day.

What were his motives?

To preserve peace and order, he says. He insists he had information that violence was brewing, time to explode when the children appeared.

What was that information?

He says he can't disclose it publicly without violating a confidence, and "possibly jeopardizing myself in litigation."

Woodrow Wilson Mann, mayor of Little Rock, and Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of schools, say they never heard of any planned violence at the school.

Faubus replies that Mann is a "discredited politician," and says, "I wouldn't believe anything Virgil Blossom says."

Many people in Little Rock are convinced that Faubus will be a candidate again next year. The theory is that he hopes to postpone integration until then.

The buildup for him to take some action began last April 30. On that date, the segregationist Capitol Citizens Council circulated a pamphlet, addressed to him and saying:

"Under sovereignty of the State of Arkansas, you can, under your police powers, in order to preserve tranquility, order the two races to attend their own schools. As sovereign head of the state, you are immune to federal court order."

Judge Miller's ruling, approving the "Little Rock Plan" for integrations, had been on the books eight months before that.

The Citizens Council then followed with a series of full-page advertisements in the Little Rock newspapers. They asked:

Would Negro students use the same showers with the whites?

Would they be allowed to go to school dances and dance with white girls?

If a Negro were cast for a part in a school play, and the script called for a tender love scene, would he be permitted to play the scene with a white girl?

"In view of the high rate of veneral disease among Negroes," said the advertisements, would Negroes and whites use the same toilet facilities in the schools?

Supt. Blossom replied publicly, point for point.

So the fires began to burn. Segregationist speeches in Little Rock added fuel.

Faubus called out the Guard. The federal government took legal action to force him to let the Negroes enroll. On Sept. 20, Faubus' lawyers told Judge Davies the U.S. District Court had no jurisdiction over the governor and abruptly left the courtroom.

Davies handed down the injunction against Faubus. That same night—a Friday night—Faubus recalled the guardsmen.

The following Monday saw the beginning of three fantastic days, and the events that put the name of Orval Faubus forever in the pages of history.

German Widow, 69, Convicted of Red Aid

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — A 69-year-old widow has been convicted of "treasonable relations" for letting Communist agents use her boarding house near the West German capital as a spy center.

Mrs. Charlotte Wallbruch, who was arrested last May in her microphone-studded house, was sentenced to 16 months in prison by a federal court. The time already spent in prison will be deducted from her sentence.

Attention: Voters

There are six candidates for member of the Fayette County School Board. Three are to be elected on November 5th for the expiring terms of Hugh Sollars, Nathaniel Tway and H. B. Lightle. Of these three, H. B. Lightle is a candidate for reelection. Besides Mr. Lightle, two of the remaining candidates, Eugene Avey and Floyd Hoppes have for a long time worked to establish and to protect the Miami Trace District -- Avey is a member of the recent Jeffersonville School Board and Hoppes is a member of both the first and the present County Citizens' Committee. Their service is a matter of record and we have heard their positions on Miami Trace issues expressed many times in public meetings.

We believe it to be highly important that the other candidates state their views, aims, and purpose, so that the voters may have the facts before the November 5th election.

Would Negro students use the same showers with the whites?

Would they be allowed to go to school dances and dance with white girls?

If a Negro were cast for a part in a school play, and the script called for a tender love scene, would he be permitted to play the scene with a white girl?

"In view of the high rate of veneral disease among Negroes," said the advertisements, would Negroes and whites use the same toilet facilities in the schools?

Supt. Blossom replied publicly, point for point.

So the fires began to burn. Segregationist speeches in Little Rock added fuel.

Faubus called out the Guard. The federal government took legal action to force him to let the Negroes enroll. On Sept. 20, Faubus' lawyers told Judge Davies the U.S. District Court had no jurisdiction over the governor and abruptly left the courtroom.

Davies handed down the injunction against Faubus. That same night—a Friday night—Faubus recalled the guardsmen.

The following Monday saw the beginning of three fantastic days, and the events that put the name of Orval Faubus forever in the pages of history.

German Widow, 69, Convicted of Red Aid

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — A 69-year-old widow has been convicted of "treasonable relations" for letting Communist agents use her boarding house near the West German capital as a spy center.

Mrs. Charlotte Wallbruch, who was arrested last May in her microphone-studded house, was sentenced to 16 months in prison by a federal court. The time already spent in prison will be deducted from her sentence.

AMERICA HONORS THE MEMORY OF ITS DISCOVERER ON COLUMBUS DAY, OCTOBER 12

NO BUSINESS TRANSACTED ON THAT DAY

The Washington Savings Bank

Attention: Voters

There are six candidates for member of the Fayette County School Board. Three are to be elected on November 5th for the expiring terms of Hugh Sollars, Nathaniel Tway and H. B. Lightle. Of these three, H. B. Lightle is a candidate for reelection. Besides Mr. Lightle, two of the remaining candidates, Eugene Avey and Floyd Hoppes have for a long time worked to establish and to protect the Miami Trace District -- Avey is a member of the recent Jeffersonville School Board and Hoppes is a member of both the first and the present County Citizens' Committee. Their service is a matter of record and we have heard their positions on Miami Trace issues expressed many times in public meetings.

We believe it to be highly important that the other candidates state their views, aims, and purpose, so that the voters may have the facts before the November 5th election.

Anything less than this would be neither fair to the candidates nor to the voters.

AP Guesspert Picks Oklahoma, Army To Win

Prognosticator Shuns Flu Germs, Satellites, In Making Predictions

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Flu germs, moving franchises, man-made satellites, home runs, blocked punts . . . it is enough to send a football prognosticator inside his crystal ball for protection.

Last week's efforts resulted in 36 correct choices and nine disappointments. That's an .800 average. The season figures are 96 correct, 27 wrong for .781.

This week's picks:

Oklahoma over Texas: Bud Wilkinson has the reserves to bring about Oklahoma's 43rd straight victory.

Michigan State over Michigan: Should be even closer than last year's 9-0 Spartan victory.

Minnesota over Northwestern: Bobby Cox and Co. have the physical edge.

Duke over Rice: The Dukes have a great two-man backfield in halfback Wray Carlton and fullback Hal McElhaney. However, a tie wouldn't surprise.

Auburn over Kentucky: Auburn gaining stature as possibly the best in the Southeastern Conference.

Army over Notre Dame: This venerable series is being revived. Army's 34-man squad is healthy. Notre Dame has several line casualties.

Baylor over Arkansas: How tough can these get? Baylor by a point.

Navy over California: Ned Oldham to get in gear again for the Middies.

Princeton over Penn: Johnny Sapoch, Tiger quarterback, as good a back as there is in the East.

Skipping over the others:

FRIDAY NIGHT

George Washington over Air Force Academy, Miami over North Carolina, Southern Methodist over Missouri, Tulane over Georgia, The Citadel over Wofford.

SATURDAY

MIDWEST: Iowa over Indiana, Cincinnati over Xavier, Kansas over Iowa State, Holy Cross over Marquette, Ohio State over Illinois, Oklahoma State over Tulsa, Detroit over Wichita.

SOUTH: Mississippi over Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech over Louisiana State, North Carolina State over Florida State, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, South Carolina over Furman, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Virginia Military over Davidson, Virginia Tech over Villanova, Virginia over Clemson.

SOUTHWEST: Texas A&M over Houston, Texas Christian over Alabama, North Texas State over Abilene Christian, Texas Western over Texas Tech.

FAR WEST: Iregon State over Idaho, Denver over Montana, Oregon over San Jose, Kansas State over College of Pacific, Arizona State over Hardin Simmons, Colorado over Arizona, Utah State over New Mexico, Utah over Brigham Young, Wyoming over Colorado State, Stanford over Washington State, UCLA over Washington.

Sheffied Corp. in Dayton, leads the world in the science of precision measuring with their production of gauges.

Grambling College Still Holds Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Total team offense honors in National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics football statistics go again this week to Grambling, La., College.

Grambling, with 605 yards rushing and 335 passing, came up with a 470-yard average against 426 for St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa, the runnerup.

St. Ambrose now has 1,278 total yards to Grambling's 940 but has played one more game.

Hard-running Lincoln (Mo.) University grabbed the rushing lead with 1,216 yards in three games for a 405.3 average. Lincoln is third in total offense.

Stengel Picks Larsen in 7th Game - If

NEW YORK (AP)—"Larsen's my pitcher for the seventh game," said Casey Stengel today, "and we'll be in it, too." He referred to Don Larsen who pitched a perfect game in the series against Brooklyn last year.

Was Ol' Case winkin' past the graveyard as he sent his New York Yankees into the sixth game of the World Series with Milwaukee's Braves holding a 3-2 edge in games?

Only twice since Stengel took over as Yankee manager in 1949 have the Bombers, who have played in seven World Series since, been behind going into the sixth game. In 1952 they hustled back and won the final pair from Brooklyn, but in 1955, after squaring the series at 3-all, they were beaten by the Dodgers.

What made it tough for the Yankees is the way the Braves took the boom out of Yogi Berra's bat. The squat swatter, who set a record by driving in 10 runs in a seven-game series last year, hadn't brought home a run in the first five games this year.

And that's what kept the Yankees cool since Mickey Mantle, hobbled first by shin splints and then burdened with a dead arm stemming from shoulder injuries, and Bill Skowron, out with a bad back, couldn't take their whacks.

Neither Mantle nor Skowron figures to be available for more than pinch-hit chores, an item that didn't figure to make the Braves break down and cry.

Tough Scrimmage Facing Buckeyes

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes says he'll put his team through another tough practice today to sharpen them up for Saturday's encounter with Illinois.

The Bucks went through a grueling afternoon Tuesday in both offensive and defensive drills.

The Bucks spent a good part of the time working up defense against the type of aerial play used by the Illini. Hayes said he expects Illinois to use a fair sprinkling of pass plays.

Buckeye quarterback Tom Crawford tossed passes in the style of Illinois quarterback Tom Haller and they gave the OSU defense some trouble, Hayes said.

Lew Carpenter Due To Play for Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lew Carpenter will play for the Cleveland Browns Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles, and nobody will be fired to make room for him.

Guard Hal Bradley will be put on the injured reserve list. That means he'll be out for the season, but still on the payroll.

Since obtaining Carpenter from the Detroit Lions, the Browns have been carrying him in excess of the 35-player limit.

Miami Quarterback To Be Out for Season

OXFORD (AP)—Miami University has lost its ace quarterback, Nick Mcurouzis of Uhrichsville, for the rest of the season.

The 190-pound back suffered a broken leg in Saturday's game with Xavier of Ohio.

Dodgers Head For Far West

O'Malley Accepts Bid By Los Angeles Council

NEW YORK (AP)— With the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the West Coast, National League President Warren Giles today said expansion, to 10 or 12-team leagues, is the next logical step for further changes in the major league baseball map.

"I don't know of any club now considering relocation," said Giles. "If any cities not now included in the major league baseball makeup are to have major league baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

Giles, commenting on the Dodgers decision Tuesday to follow the Giants, Boston Braves. St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics in franchise shifts which have rearranged the baseball map since 1953, said expansion has been discussed frequently and for some time by the majors on an informal basis.

He added, however, that there "has been no sentiment favoring expansion at the present time in the National League."

"I don't believe there will be any such expansion, however, in the immediate future," said Giles, "say in the next two or three or four years."

The Dodgers, in anything but a surprise move, formally announced Tuesday that club directors and stockholders had "unanimously agreed that the necessary steps be taken to draft the Los Angeles territory."

The announcement came within 24 hours of action by the Los Angeles City Council, by a 10-4 vote, approving an acceptable offer to the Dodgers—swapping a 300-acre chunk of accessible Chavez Ravine for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley already had received unanimous National League approval of the move.

Lions Polishing Up Touchdown Plays

What to do inside the 10 - yard line?

That's an all - important football problem and one that plagued the Washington C. H. High School gridders sorely when they lost, 14-0, to Greenfield Friday night.

It was the subject of almost all the offensive practice by the Lions Tuesday evening. Just so the Lions won't have the same trouble against Hillsboro here this Friday, Coach Fred Domenico kept the squad working at close - scoring plays most of the session. A lot of time was spent on the minutest technical details.

"We've got good scoring plays, and we used them several times Friday night," Domenico asserted.

"They just didn't work," he commented wryly.

"Naturally," he expanded, "a lot of fans couldn't figure out why in heaven's name the boys weren't using the same plays around the 5 that they used around the 50.

"Well, it's simple. It's because the defense changes. When we were around the 50, Greenfield would spread out a wide, orthodox defense, designed to meet any extremity.

"When we were around the 5 yard line, Greenfield would mass everything they had on the line.

"If we'd tried to use Fullback Gary Stoddard on a line plunge, or Halfback Roger McLean around end, we'd have been smeared.

"As often as not, in a situation like that, we'd try to run Stoddard through an off - tackle hole. We figure it's the best way we could sneak through that mass defense.

"That's no secret. Any Hillsboro spotter has seen it.

"But it didn't work last Friday, and so we had to sit down and find out why not. We're working our way out of it now.

"Timing was the big trouble. Our guards would be throwing their line blocks too early— or too late. Our fullbacks wouldn't be moving at the right speed, and thus they'd be headed through the line at the wrong angle.

"And sometimes the tackles wouldn't be moving in the right direction.

"Things are coming along fine now. We'll do more work on it to night, but actually, I am very happy.

"As a matter of fact, I hope I see the same spirit Friday against Hillsboro as I saw in Tuesday's practice. Those boys were really working."

Domenico commented that he had been experimenting with different boys at different positions, and said: "I think it sparked the whole squad up."

"The regulars wanted to show they deserved to be in there. The substitutes wanted to work their way into a starting slot."

"Anyway," Domenico commented, "we'll need all we can get. Hillsboro plays football hard and well, and they'll be no pushover."

Spartans Get Nod To Top Michigan '11'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Undefeated Michigan and Michigan State clash here Saturday in their annual backyard football tug-of-war that, rain or shine, will attract one of the season's top collegiate football crowds.

Michigan's huge bowl will be jammed with 101,001 frenzied spectators who, like the competing teams, need no incentive other than a Wolverine-Spartan game to get keyed up to fever pitch. The autumn classic between these Big Ten neighbors, who have been gridiron rivals since 1898, has been a sellout since summer.

Records and past performances mean nothing in this battle that could go a long way in determining the Western Conference championship.

Duffy Daugherty, the always optimistic coach of State's Spartans, said Tuesday night, "The outcome of this one may not mean everything, but it involves 50 per cent of the season to both teams."

There have been some real thrillers in the previous 49 meetings between these two teams, with most of them packed into the last decade as Michigan State barged into football's big time. State has won only 11 games, but five victories have come in the last 10 years. The Spartans won last year 9-0.

State, the nation's second ranked team and an easy winner over Indiana and California, is a 6-point favorite.

Minnesota Star Is Back of Week

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota's Dick Larson, a second string quarterback who has been overshadowed by talented Bobby Cox for two years, today was named back of the week by the Associated Press for his spectacular feats in leading the unbeaten Gophers to a 21-17 victory over Purdue.

The 21-year-old, 5-11, 175-pound senior came through like the understudy to the star in a storybook drama of the theater. He ran back a punt 72 yards for one touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another, and ran five yards for the third.

Youngstowner Leads U. S. Ground Gainers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Davey Kimmel of Youngstown University today stands as the leading ground gainer in football among the nation's small colleges.

The National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics announced Tuesday that Kimmel has a 165.3-yard average per game.

Wife On Hand To See Golfer Get Hole-in-1

COLUMBUS (AP)—Don H. Greider of Columbus gripped his No. 3 wood, whanged away and plunked the ball in the cup exactly 200 yards away.

To add to his good fortune, the one person it might have been hardest to convince was there.

Otherwise, said his wife, "I might have questioned it."

McKelway Selected As New AP Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin, resigned Tuesday as president of the Associated Press, and Benjamin McKelway, editor of the Washington Star, was elected to succeed him.

The action was taken by the board of directors of the AP.

McLean, 66, has been a director since 1924 and president of the news service since 1938.

McKelway, 62, was first elected to the AP board in 1949 and has served as first vice - president since last April.

10-25 Year Sentence Given Man in Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steven R. Thomas, 24, who pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in the holdup of the St. Clair Savings & Loan Co. last April 12, was sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the Ohio Reformatory Tuesday.

The holdup, in which $2,372 was taken, was filmed by a movie camera concealed at the rear of the loan company office. Thomas surrendered to police after learning that pictures of the robbery had been taken.

2 Deaf Mutes Slated for Trial In Murder Case

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two deaf-mute brothers will go on trial in Common Pleas Court here Monday, charged with the first-degree murder of a 76-year-old woman gasoline station operator.

Sign language will be used during the trial to communicate with the two defendants.

Joseph Buza, 20, and his brother Burt, 17, both of nearby Burton, are charged with the April 10 slaying of Mrs. Mary Denham.

Belmont County Sheriff Cloyd L. Varriclow said Mrs. Denham's body was discovered by a neighbor on the morning of April 11 in the living quarters ajoining Mrs. Denham's gasoline station in Burton.

Sheriff Varriclow said the woman was beaten with a pop bottle and stabbed. He said the Buza brothers had visited Mrs. Denham the previous night to settle a bill their family owed her.

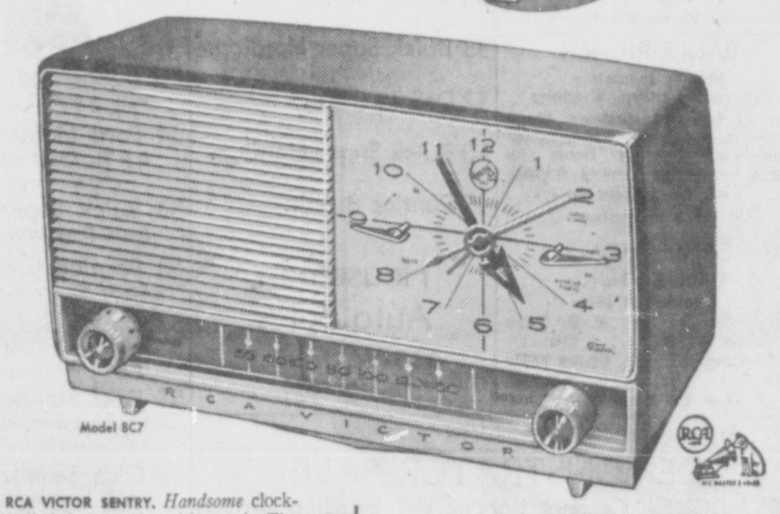

Attorneys for the two brothers previously entered pleas of innocent by reason of insanity. But the brothers were found legally sane after a two-month examination at a state hospital.

AP Guesspert Picks Oklahoma, Army To Win

Prognosticator Shuns Flu Germs, Satellites, In Making Predictions

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Flu germs, moving franchises, man-made satellites, home runs, blocked punts . . . it is enough to send a football prognosticator inside his crystal ball for protection.

Last week's efforts resulted in 36 correct choices and nine disappointments. That's an .800 average. The season figures are 96 correct, 27 wrong for .781.

This week's picks:

Oklahoma over Texas: Bud Wilkinson has the reserves to bring about Oklahoma's 43rd straight victory.

Michigan State over Michigan: Should be even closer than last year's 9-0 Spartan victory.

Minnesota over Northwestern: Bobby Cox and Co. have the physical edge.

Duke over Rice: The Dukes have a great two-man backfield in halfback Wray Carlton and fullback Hal McElhaney. However, a tie wouldn't surprise.

Auburn over Kentucky: Auburn gaining stature as possibly the best in the Southeastern Conference.

Army over Notre Dame: This venerable series is being revived. Army's 34-man squad is healthy. Notre Dame has several line casualties.

Baylor over Arkansas: How tough can these get? Baylor by a point.

Navy over California: Ned Oldham to get in gear again for the Middies.

Princeton over Penn: Johnny Sapoch, Tiger quarterback, as good a back as there is in the East.

Skipping over the others:

FRIDAY NIGHT

George Washington over Air Force Academy, Miami over North Carolina, Southern Methodist over Missouri, Tulane over Georgia, The Citadel over Wofford.

SATURDAY

MIDWEST: Iowa over Indiana, Cincinnati over Xavier, Kansas over Iowa State, Holy Cross over Marquette, Ohio State over Illinois, Oklahoma State over Tulsa, Detroit over Wichita.

SOUTH: Mississippi over Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech over Louisiana State, North Carolina State over Florida State, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, South Carolina over Furman, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Virginia Military over Davidson, Virginia Tech over Villanova, Virginia over Clemson.

SOUTHWEST: Texas A&M over Houston, Texas Christian over Alabama, North Texas State over Abilene Christian, Texas Western over Texas Tech.

FAR WEST: Iregon State over Idaho, Denver over Montana, Oregon over San Jose, Kansas State over College of Pacific, Arizona State over Hardin Simmons, Colorado over Arizona, Utah State over New Mexico, Utah over Brigham Young, Wyoming over Colorado State, Stanford over Washington State, UCLA over Washington.

Sheffied Corp. in Dayton, leads the world in the science of precision measuring with their production of gauges.

Grambling College Still Holds Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Total team offense honors in National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics football statistics go again this week to Grambling, La., College.

Grambling, with 605 yards rushing and 335 passing, came up with a 470-yard average against 426 for St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa, the runnerup.

St. Ambrose now has 1,278 total yards to Grambling's 940 but has played one more game.

Hard-running Lincoln (Mo.) University grabbed the rushing lead with 1,216 yards in three games for a 405.3 average. Lincoln is third in total offense.

Stengel Picks Larsen in 7th Game - If

NEW YORK (AP)—"Larsen's my pitcher for the seventh game," said Casey Stengel today, "and we'll be in it, too." He referred to Don Larsen who pitched a perfect game in the series against Brooklyn last year.

Was Ol' Case winkin' past the graveyard as he sent his New York Yankees into the sixth game of the World Series with Milwaukee's Braves holding a 3-2 edge in games?

Only twice since Stengel took over as Yankee manager in 1949 have the Bombers, who have played in seven World Series since, been behind going into the sixth game. In 1952 they hustled back and won the final pair from Brooklyn, but in 1955, after squaring the series at 3-all, they were beaten by the Dodgers.

What made it tough for the Yankees is the way the Braves took the boom out of Yogi Berra's bat. The squat swatter, who set a record by driving in 10 runs in a seven-game series last year, hadn't brought home a run in the first five games this year.

And that's what kept the Yankees cool since Mickey Mantle, hobbled first by shin splints and then burdened with a dead arm stemming from shoulder injuries, and Bill Skowron, out with a bad back, couldn't take their whacks.

Neither Mantle nor Skowron figures to be available for more than pinch-hit chores, an item that didn't figure to make the Braves break down and cry.

Tough Scrimmage Facing Buckeyes

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes says he'll put his team through another tough practice today to sharpen them up for Saturday's encounter with Illinois.

The Bucks went through a grueling afternoon Tuesday in both offensive and defensive drills.

The Bucks spent a good part of the time working up defense against the type of aerial play used by the Illini. Hayes said he expects Illinois to use a fair sprinkling of pass plays.

Buckeye quarterback Tom Crawford tossed passes in the style of Illinois quarterback Tom Haller and they gave the OSU defense some trouble, Hayes said.

Lew Carpenter Due To Play for Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lew Carpenter will play for the Cleveland Browns Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles, and nobody will be fired to make room for him.

Guard Hal Bradley will be put on the injured reserve list. That means he'll be out for the season, but still on the payroll.

Dodgers Head For Far West

O'Malley Accepts Bid By Los Angeles Council

NEW YORK (AP)— With the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the West Coast, National League President Warren Giles today said expansion, to 10 or 12-team leagues, is the next logical step for further changes in the major league baseball map.

"I don't know of any club now considering relocation," said Giles. "If any cities not now included in the major league baseball makeup are to have major league baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

Giles, commenting on the Dodgers decision Tuesday to follow the Giants, Boston Braves, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics in franchise shifts which have rearranged the baseball map since 1953, said expansion has been discussed frequently and for some time by the majors on an informal basis.

He added, however, that there "has been no sentiment favoring expansion at the present time in the National League."

"I don't believe there will be any such expansion, however, in the immediate future," said Giles, "say in the next two or three or four years."

The Dodgers, in anything but a surprise move, formally announced Tuesday that club directors and stockholders had "unanimously agreed that the necessary steps be taken to draft the Los Angeles territory."

The announcement came within 24 hours of action by the Los Angeles City Council, by a 10-4 vote, approving an acceptable offer to the Dodgers—swapping a 300-acre chunk of accessible Chavez Ravine for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley already had received unanimous National League approval of the move.

Miami Quarterback To Be Out for Season

OXFORD (AP)—Miami University has lost its ace quarterback, Nick Mcurouzis of Uhrichsville, for the rest of the season.

The 190-pound back suffered a broken leg in Saturday's game with Xavier of Ohio.

Lions Polishing Up Touchdown Plays

What to do inside the 10 - yard line?

That's an all - important football problem and one that plagued the Washington C. H. High School gridders sorely when they lost, 14-0, to Greenfield Friday night.

It was the subject of almost all the offensive practice by the Lions Tuesday evening. Just so the Lions won't have the same trouble against Hillsboro here this Friday, Coach Fred Domenico kept the squad working at close - scoring plays most of the session. A lot of time was spent on the minutest technical details.

"We've got good scoring plays, and we used them several times Friday night," Domenico asserted.

"They just didn't work," he commented wryly.

"Naturally," he expanded, "a lot of fans couldn't figure out why in heaven's name the boys weren't using the same plays around the 5 that they used around the 50.

"Well, it's simple. It's because the defense changes. When we were around the 50, Greenfield would spread out a wide, orthodox defense, designed to meet any extremity.

"When we were around the 5 yard line, Greenfield would mass everything they had on the line.

"If we'd tried to use Fullback Gary Stoddard on a line plunge, or Halfback Roger McLean around end, we'd have been smeared.

"As often as not, in a situation like that, we'd try to run Stoddard through an off - tackle hole. We figure it's the best way we could sneak through that mass defense.

"That's no secret. Any Hillsboro spotter has seen it.

"But it didn't work last Friday, and so we had to sit down and find out why not. We're working our way out of it now.

"Timing was the big trouble. Our guards would be throwing their line blocks too early— or too late. Our fullbacks wouldn't be moving at the right speed, and thus they'd be headed through the line at the wrong angle.

"And sometimes the tackles wouldn't be moving in the right direction.

"Things are coming along fine now. We'll do more work on it to night, but actually, I am very happy.

"As a matter of fact, I hope I see the same spirit Friday against Hillsboro as I saw in Tuesday's practice. Those boys were really working."

Domenico commented that he had been experimenting with different boys at different positions, and said: "I think it sparked the whole squad up."

"The regulars wanted to show they deserved to be in there. The substitutes wanted to work their way into a starting slot."

"Anyway," Domenico commented, "we'll need all we can get. Hillsboro plays football hard and well, and they'll be no pushover."

Spartans Get Nod To Top Michigan '11'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Undefeated Michigan and Michigan State clash here Saturday in their annual backyard football tug-of-war that, rain or shine, will attract one of the season's top collegiate football crowds.

Michigan's huge bowl will be jammed with 101,001 frenzied spectators who, like the competing teams, need no incentive other than a Wolverine-Spartan game to get keyed up to fever pitch. The autumn classic between these Big Ten neighbors, who have been gridiron rivals since 1898, has been a sellout since summer.

Records and past performances mean nothing in this battle that could go a long way in determining the Western Conference championship.

Duffy Daugherty, the always optimistic coach of State's Spartans, said Tuesday night, "The outcome of this one may not mean everything, but it involves 50 per cent of the season to both teams."

There have been some real thrillers in the previous 49 meetings between these two teams, with most of them packed into the last decade as Michigan State barged into football's big time. State has won only 11 games, but five victories have come in the last 10 years. The Spartans won last year 9-0.

State, the nation's second ranked team and an easy winner over Indiana and California, is a 6-point favorite.

Minnesota Star Is Back of Week

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota's Dick Larson, a second string quarterback who has been overshadowed by talented Bobby Cox for two years, today was named back of the week by the Associated Press for his spectacular feats in leading the unbeaten Gophers to a 21-17 victory over Purdue.

The 21-year-old, 5-11, 175-pound senior came through like the understudy to the star in a storybook drama of the theater. He ran back a punt 72 yards for one touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another, and ran five yards for the third.

Youngstowner Leads U. S. Ground Gainers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Davey Kimmel of Youngstown University today stands as the leading ground gainer in football among the nation's small colleges.

The National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics announced Tuesday that Kimmel has a 165.3-yard average per game.

Wife On Hand To See Golfer Get Hole-in-1

COLUMBUS (AP)—Don H. Greider of Columbus gripped his No. 3 wood, whanged away and plunked the ball in the cup exactly 200 yards away.

To add to his good fortune, the one person it might have been hardest to convince was there.

Otherwise, said his wife, "I might have questioned it."

McKelway Selected As New AP Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin, resigned Tuesday as president of the Associated Press, and Benjamin McKelway, editor of the Washington Star, was elected to succeed him.

The action was taken by the board of directors of the AP.

McLean, 66, has been a director since 1924 and president of the news service since 1938.

McKelway, 62, was first elected to the AP board in 1949 and has served as first vice - president since last April.

10-25 Year Sentence Given Man in Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steven R. Thomas, 24, who pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in the holdup of the St. Clair Savings & Loan Co. last April 12, was sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the Ohio Reformatory Tuesday.

The holdup, in which $2,372 was taken, was filmed by a movie camera concealed at the rear of the loan company office. Thomas surrendered to police after learning that pictures of the robbery had been taken.

2 Deaf Mutes Slated for Trial In Murder Case

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two deaf-mute brothers will go on trial in Common Pleas Court here Monday, charged with the first-degree murder of a 76-year-old woman gasoline station operator.

Sign language will be used during the trial to communicate with the two defendants.

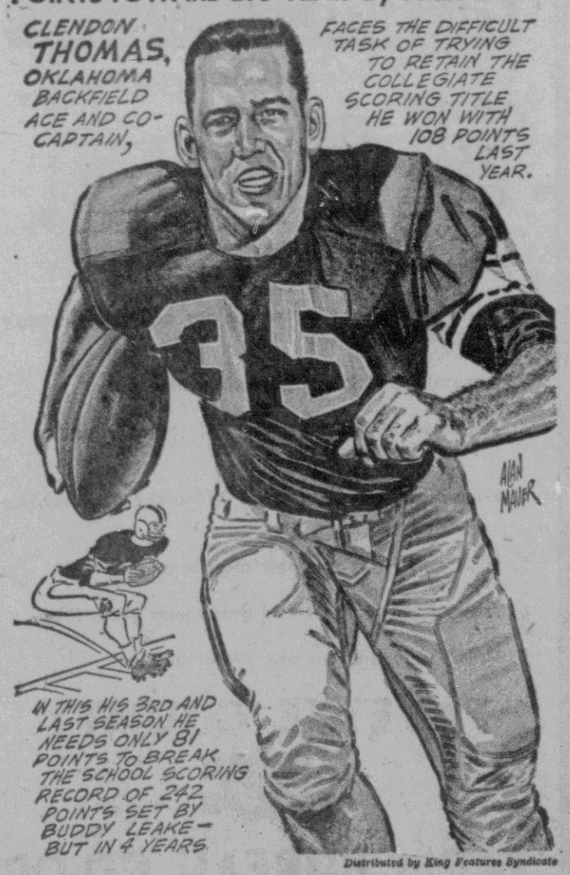

Joseph Buza, 20, and his brother Burt, 17, both of nearby Burton, are charged with the April 10 slaying of Mrs. Mary Denham.

Belmont County Sheriff Cloyd L. Varriclow said Mrs. Denham's body was discovered by a neighbor on the morning of April 11 in the living quarters ajoining Mrs. Denham's gasoline station in Burton.

Sheriff Varriclow said the woman was beaten with a pop bottle and stabbed. He said the Buza brothers had visited Mrs. Denham the previous night to settle a bill their family owed her.

Attorneys for the two brothers previously entered pleas of innocent by reason of insanity. But the brothers were found legally sane after a two-month examination at a state hospital.

New U. S. Missile Setup Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) is urging that Congress set up "a Manhattan type project" to direct the multi-billion-dollar race with Soviet Russia in the field of missiles and earth satellites.

"We need the same type of coordination and concentration of our best scientists and experts as developed our initial atomic bomb," Mansfield said, adding that "I am told that we have wasted hundreds of millions of dollars through our present programs of separate Army, Navy and Air Force projects for attempted development of long-range missiles."

5 Witnesses Absent In Grand Theft Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sheriff Dan Tehan says that five witnesses failed to show up for a trial here Tuesday because of negligence by process servers. But he said he is unable to explain an anonymous telephone call received by Judge Charles Weber about one-half hour before Peter Dundee, 49, of Dayton, Ky., was slated to go on trial on a grand larceny charge.

The judge said: "The man said there had been a fix in the Dundee case. You'll see when none of the witnesses show up."

Zanesville Man Held In Pennsy Shooting

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A Zanesville, Ohio, man has been charged with murder in the death of Frank Williams, 22, of Erie, who fell under a fusilade of bullets during a barroom dispute Monday night.

Detectives Tuesday night issued the charge against Isaac Johnson Jr., 27. Officers said he became enraged when the bartender gave him a bill. They said he took out a pistol and began firing in all directions. Williams, a patron, was hit and died Tuesday.

Highway Talks Open

COLUMBUS (AP) — "Ohio Highways for the Future," a statewide conference set up to discuss Ohio's part in the federal highway program, got underway here today. The conference is one of series staged in different states.

A Toledo, Ohio, physician, Dr. Allen DeVilbiss, invented the "atomizer" which is in daily use for spraying such diversified products as medicine, perfume and paint.

Van Wert Escapee Recaptured After Lengthy Flight

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old escapee from the Van Wert County Detention Home eluded sheriff's deputies Tuesday night by plunging into a Muskingum County creek, and then swam directly into the arm of waiting highway patrolmen.

Brought to the patrol post here was Ronald Ross, who escaped from the detention home Monday.

Patrolmen said Ross stole a car in Van Wert, but wrecked it just outside the city limits. He proceeded to Delphos where he stole another auto, patrolmen said, and drove to Crestline where he abandoned it. Ross took a bus to Newcomerstown and there stole a third car, officers related. He abandoned it in the Otsego area in northwestern Muskingum County.

Sheriff's deputies launched a manhunt after a farmer reported seeing someone matching the description of a man who stole a car in Newcomerstown.

When deputies finally spotted him near Ohio 75, Ross dived into a creek to escape. When he came up on the other side, the patrol was waiting.

California Jurors Balk at Long Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jury selection in the murder trial of L. Ewing Scott goes on, though most of the prospective jurors questioned are balking at the expected length of the trial, estimated at up to three months.

The 61-year-old former stockbroker is being tried in connection with the 1955 disappearance of his wealthy wife, Evelyn Throsby Scott, 63. Her body has never been found.

Toledo is the greatest coal shipping port in the world.

New U. S. Missile Setup Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) is urging that Congress set up "a Manhattan type project" to direct the multi-billion-dollar race with Soviet Russia in the field of missiles and earth satellites.

"We need the same type of coordination and concentration of our best scientists and experts as developed our initial atomic bomb," Mansfield said, adding that "I am told that we have wasted hundreds of millions of dollars through our present programs of separate Army, Navy and Air Force projects for attempted development of long-range missiles."

Van Wert Escapee Recaptured After Lengthy Flight

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old escapee from the Van Wert County Detention Home eluded sheriff's deputies Tuesday night by plunging into a Muskingum County creek, and then swam directly into the arm of waiting highway patrolmen.

Brought to the patrol post here was Ronald Ross, who escaped from the detention home Monday.

Patrolmen said Ross stole a car in Van Wert, but wrecked it just outside the city limits. He proceeded to Delphos where he stole another auto, patrolmen said, and drove to Crestline where he abandoned it. Ross took a bus to Newcomerstown and there stole a third car, officers related. He abandoned it in the Otsego area in northwestern Muskingum County.

Sheriff's deputies launched a manhunt after a farmer reported seeing someone matching the description of a man who stole a car in Newcomerstown.

When deputies finally spotted him near Ohio 75, Ross dived into a creek to escape. When he came up on the other side, the patrol was waiting.

California Jurors Balk at Long Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jury selection in the murder trial of L. Ewing Scott goes on, though most of the prospective jurors questioned are balking at the expected length of the trial, estimated at up to three months.

The 61-year-old former stockbroker is being tried in connection with the 1955 disappearance of his wealthy wife, Evelyn Throsby Scott, 63. Her body has never been found.

Toledo is the greatest coal shipping port in the world.

5 Witnesses Absent In Grand Theft Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sheriff Dan Tehan says that five witnesses failed to show up for a trial here Tuesday because of negligence by process servers. But he said he is unable to explain an anonymous telephone call received by Judge Charles Weber about one-half hour before Peter Dundee, 49, of Dayton, Ky., was slated to go on trial on a grand larceny charge.

The judge said: "The man said there had been a fix in the Dundee case. You'll see when none of the witnesses show up."

Zanesville Man Held In Pennsy Shooting

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A Zanesville, Ohio, man has been charged with murder in the death of Frank Williams, 22, of Erie, who fell under a fusilade of bullets during a barroom dispute Monday night.

Detectives Tuesday night issued the charge against Isaac Johnson Jr., 27. Officers said he became enraged when the bartender gave him a bill. They said he took out a pistol and began firing in all directions. Williams, a patron, was hit and died Tuesday.

Highway Talks Open

COLUMBUS (AP) — "Ohio Highways for the Future," a statewide conference set up to discuss Ohio's part in the federal highway program, got underway here today. The conference is one of series staged in different states.

A Toledo, Ohio, physician, Dr. Allen DeVilbiss, invented the "atomizer" which is in daily use for spraying such diversified products as medicine, perfume and paint.

Czechs Out-Smart Communist Rulers

VIENNA (AP)—Police have told the story of a Czech family that proved too slippery for their country's Communist rulers.

Hoping to get to America, Antonin Liska and his wife took their children, 9 and 5, and slipped into one of the empty oil tank cars that is sent to Austria regularly to pick up the oil that Russia exacts as reparations. They brought along old military gas masks—in case the car's air was bad—and a sack of clothes and food.

After a 36-hour tip, they arrived safely in Austria Sunday, completely covered with oil from the residue in the tank.

Lions Club Entertains Sons and Daughters

It was a big night for 124 boys and girls—and for the proud fathers, too—when the Washington C. H. Lions Club members had their sons and daughters as their guests at Tuesday night's dinner meeting at the Country Club.

This is an annual event for the club, one that is looked forward to by the Lions with mixed emotions. Their faces radiate their pride; they also show the strain of keeping track of their happy, carefree youngsters by the time they are ready to go back home and shift their responsibilities to the mothers.

* * *

ALL BUSINESS was sidetracked for the evening by President Norris Highfield in order that full time could be given to the entertainment of the young guests who, incidentally, ranged up from 18 months old. Some had to set in high chairs.

John Breiner had arranged for three reels of cartoons, all favorites of the children.

But there was plenty of action when the balloons of all shapes and sizes and colors were passed out. The excited screams of the youngsters, as they chased their balloons around the room, was punctuated frequently by the "pop" of those that could take the batting and squeezing.

Along with the balloons went favors of chewing gum.

* * *

TWO NEW members, Tom Gormley and Ray Jennings, were at the meeting, but with the children scampering around, formal recognition was postponed until the next meeting.

The main course of the dinner was swiss steak.

Here is the guest list:

Nine WCH Teachers Attend Conference

Nine Washington C. H. teachers attended the education conference held in the high school at Wilmington Tuesday evenng.

The conference, sponsored by the Wilmington Teachers Assn., opened with a coffee hour at 4:30 p. m.

The meeting proper got under way half an hour late with a model association meeting. Miss Kathleen Outcalt of Wilmington presided.

Ralph Holmes, Clinton County school superintendent, welcomed the 131 teachers who had come to the conference from eight schools within a radius of 25 miles of Wilmington.

Following dinner served by Future Teachers Assn. members in the high school cafeteria, John H. Hall of Columbus, assistant director of Ohio Education Assn. field service, and Roger Boror of Wilmington, delegate to the National Education Assn. convention in Philadelphia last June, addressed the gathering.

Hall outlined some of the activites of the OEA legislative committee and touched on some school legislation now before the Ohio General Assembly.

Boror reported on the NEA conventon.

Stanley Johnson, Washington C. H. Junior High School teacher, was a member of the panel that discussed: "How To Have a Good Association."

Washington C. H. teachers at the meeting were Johnson, Donald Moore, Mrs. Marcus Prosch, Mrs. Howard S. Harper, Mrs. Robert Angus, Mrs. Grace Iden, Mrs. Arnold Grillot, Mrs. Frank Mayo and Mrs. Carl Meriweather.

Home Demonstration Council Elects Mrs. Mark President

The Fayette County Home Demonstration Council elected a new president, Mrs. Maryon Mark, at its Tuesday afternoon meeting, resignation of Mrs. Lloyd Moberly.

Mrs. Gene Carman, vice president, conducted the meeting and announced that Mrs. Mark will be installed at the next meeting on Nov. 12.

Mrs. Leonard Slager, alumni chairman, suggested that an alumni meeting be held Jan. 9. All Fayette County women who have ever served on the council are members.

Miss Louise Ritter was appointed chairman of the Christmas-at-home program to be held Dec. 6. Others on the committee include Mrs. Othol Wade, Mrs. Everett Page, Mrs. Peter Smeltzer and Miss Elda Fenner.

Mrs. Norma Cunningham, home economics agent, announced that the next meeting to train leaders in the care of upholstery and rugs will be held Oct. 22. She also announced that anyone wishing to enroll in the furniture refinishing classes to be held next spring should contact the Extension Service office before Feb. 1.

The Council decided to charter a bus to take members to the district 10 meeting in Chillicothe Feb. 20.

Formation of a group of women interested in weight control was discussed. All women interested are to meet at the Farm Bureau auditorium the afternoon of Oct. 17. If interest warrants, a permanent organization will be considered at this meeting.

Twenty-eight representatives from 15 of the 17 clubs in the county attended the meeting.

Sunnyside PTA Endorses Levies

Record Attendance At Tuesday Meeting

The Sunnyside Parent Teachers Association meeting Tuesday night filled the school's auditorium. Mrs. Norman D. Troute, president, reported that it was the largest attendance ever assembled for a regular meeting.

New members were asked to introduce themselves and give the names of their children. Mrs. William Junk, new vice president, was introduced as was the school's new principal, Quinten Cicero, who introduced the school's teachers.

A committee was appointed to investigate the best means of securing a small piano for the school. Mrs. E. R. Rudolph was appointed chairman. Serving on the committee will be Mrs. Virgil Rice, Mrs. George Pensyl and Mrs. Eugene Ledrach.

Charles Pensyl discussed the hospital levy and bond issue proposals and the renewal of the school levy, all to be considered in next month's election. All three measures were endorsed by the association.

Main speaker of the evening was Richard J. McMullen, probation officer of the Probate Court. McMullen stressed the need for a school psychiatrist and a class for slow learners. He also said a realistic curfew is needed for youngsters, a juvenile job placement bureau, a youth center and a foster home program to be administered by the Juvenile Court.

A question and answer period followed the talk.

After McMullen's talk the group adjourned for refreshments.

The next Sunnyside PTA meeting will be held Dec. 10.

Lost Bulls Recaptured After 2 Hours

Wal hit's thisaway folks— the brave bulls have been corralled and taken home.

Two young Herefords who escaped from Producers Stockyard, 812 Delaware St., about 11:30 a. m. Tuesday, were captured by 1:30 p. m. And neither had a chance to do any damage.

One of the animals was lassoed and tied to a tree by a stockyard employee near the junction of Highland, Clinton and Leesburg Aves. The other was taken on Route 38, north, near the city limits.

Friendly and uninclined to mayhem, the bulls wandered peacefully through the streets of the city, drawing crowds wherever they went, before city police and Producers employees finally tracked them down.

A stockyard spokesman said their escape "was probably due to negligence." He said either an employee or a customer may have left a gate open.

Both animals were bulls, he emphasized— not steers— as had been rumoured Tuesday.

Alert Officers Swoop Down On 16-Year-Old BIS Fugitive

An alert sheriff's deputy tricked a 16-year-old Boys' Industrial School fugitive back into captivity early Wednesday after an hour-long search by half a dozen law officers in the northwest section of the county.

Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson, who made the capture, said the youth had stolen an auto and a .38-calibre revolver in the Sugar Grove community on Route 33 in Fairfield County Tuesday night.

Officers were tipped to his presence here by John L. Sparks, proprietor of Sparks' Grocery Store in West Lancaster, who called police about 11 p. m. to say someone was tampering with his auto parked near the store.

* * *

DEPUTY THOMPSON, in the company of off-duty city policeman Robert Williams, went to the scene along with Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Mickle and officers from the State Highway Patrol.

The stolen car, an old model sedan, was found parked near Sparks' auto. The boy was nowhere in sight. An hour-long search up and down the highway produced nothing, but a trucker stopped one of the cruisers to say he had seen "some kid trying to hitch-hike."

After a fruitless search, Thompson and Williams drove toward the Fayette-Greene County line, staying just a few feet behind a large truck.

The boy didn't see them coming. He was still hitch-hiking just this side of the county line when the two officers swerved off the road and picked him up.

* * *

IN COUNTY JAIL here Wednesday, the boy said he found the gun in the glove compartment of the auto, which belonged to Ronald B. Walters of Lancaster.

He said he had run away from the school, which is near Lancaster, Tuesday morning, and that he had hidden in the woods all day. He stole the car from its parking place on a Sugar Grove street Tuesday evening.

Originally committed for burglary, he said he was driving to his home in Dayton.

Charity Bingo Games Protected by Judge

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Fred B. Cramer has issued a temporary restrainer against city officials interfering with charity bingo games, pending a hearing Oct. 21. Two fraternal groups Tuesday asked the court to rule on the legality of charity bingo under state gaming laws, and for the restrainer until a ruling is made. The plaintiffs said city officials ordered the games shut down.

IN COUNTY JAIL here Wednesday, the boy said he found the gun in the glove compartment of the auto, which belonged to Ronald B. Walters of Lancaster.

He said he had run away from the school, which is near Lancaster, Tuesday morning, and that he had hidden in the woods all day. He stole the car from its parking place on a Sugar Grove street Tuesday evening.

Originally committed for burglary, he said he was driving to his home in Dayton.

Charity Bingo Games Protected by Judge

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Fred B. Cramer has issued a temporary restrainer against city officials interfering with charity bingo games, pending a hearing Oct. 21. Two fraternal groups Tuesday asked the court to rule on the legality of charity bingo under state gaming laws, and for the restrainer until a ruling is made. The plaintiffs said city officials ordered the games shut down.

Water Bonds Get OK

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Water Service Co. can issue $3 million in 30-year first mortgage bonds and $1,248,000 in debenture bonds, the Utilities Commission decided today.

The common cold is one of the most infectious of all diseases.

New Martinsburg School Now Has Flag from Capitol

Ceremonies will be held Friday at the New Martinsburg School to dedicate a new flag for the school which has flown over the Capitol building in Washington D. C.

The New Martinsburg Parent-Teacher Organization authorized the purchase of a five by eight foot flag for the school at its September meeting. With the cooperation of Congressman James G. Polk a flag having flown over the Capitol building was secured and will be prominently displayed in the school room housing the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.
